

CLAUDIA WELZ

Love's Transcendence and the Problem of Theodicy

Religion in Philosophy and Theology

Mohr Siebeck

Religion in Philosophy and Theology

Editor

INGOLF U. DALFERTH (Zürich)

Advisory Board

HERMANN DEUSER (Frankfurt/M.) · JEAN-LUC MARION (Chicago)

ELEONORE STUMP (St. Louis) · HENT DE VRIES (Amsterdam)

30

Claudia Welz

Love's Transcendence and the Problem of Theodicy

Mohr Siebeck

CLAUDIA WELZ, born 1974; Studies in Theology and Philosophy in Tübingen, Jerusalem, Munich, Heidelberg and Zurich; 2007 Ph.D. in Theology; currently Post.doc at the Danish National Research Foundation's Center for Subjectivity Research, University of Copenhagen.

ISBN 978-3-16-149561-8 / eISBN 978-3-16-167819-6 corrected eBook edition 2025
ISSN 1616-346X (Religion in Philosophy and Theology)

Die Deutsche Nationalbibliothek lists this publication in the Deutsche Nationalbibliographie; detailed bibliographic data is available in the Internet at <http://dnb.d-nb.de>.

© 2008 by Mohr Siebeck Tübingen, Germany.

This book may not be reproduced, in whole or in part, in any form (beyond that permitted by copyright law) without the publisher's written permission. This applies particularly to reproductions, translations, microfilms and storage and processing in electronic systems.

The book was printed by Gulde-Druck in Tübingen on non-aging paper and bound by Buchbinderei Held in Rottenburg.

Printed in Germany.

Preface

This book is the slightly revised version of my doctoral thesis, originally entitled God's (Non)Phenomenality and the Problem of Theodicy, which has been accepted by the Theological Faculty of the University of Zurich in the winter semester 2006/2007.

What I wish to show with my study is that the problem of theodicy cannot be solved by means of a theodicy, a rational defense of (the belief in a good and powerful) God before the tribunal of human reason, since this problem concerns all dimensions of human existence and cannot be reduced to a logical problem of consistency. But if this way of handling the problem turns out to be a dead end, what would be better alternatives? How can we come to terms with the undeniable 'wound of negativity' – without oversimplifying either the theoretical or the practical dimensions of the problem? These are the questions that have guided my investigations.

My answers to these questions as well as my methodological approach to the problem are unconventional, and so is the structure of this book. It is deliberately not arranged according to a top-down order of levels, which would place the subdivisions of each part in parallel positions. For systematic reasons, the contents of Parts I-III, which make up the main body of the book, are not located on the same level. Rather, they build upon each other in a row of rising complexity. Let me briefly explain the line of argumentation on the different levels.

The aim of this study is to explore responses to the problem of theodicy that do not end up in a theodicy. Instead of asking after the origin and sense (or non-sense) of evil and suffering, it considers God's (non)phenomenality, the dialectics of God's givenness and hiddenness. Neither God nor evil is given 'as such;' rather, God and evil are determined for someone as something within specific contexts of experience. How does God appear in human life, and how is his phenomenal presence or non-presence related to the ambiguities of our lives? Different traditions of thought offer different answers to this question. Part I (structured in Arabic numbers) is 'basic' in three respects: it clarifies the terminology, it introduces into those thematic aspects of the problem that will reappear in other parts of the book and that have played an important role throughout the history of theology and philosophy, and it presents the traditions of thought on which the discussions later on are based.

Part II is the central part of the book. It contains a strictly symmetrically composed comparison of Kierkegaard's (Part II, I.) and Rosenzweig's (Part II, II.) responses to seven selected aspects of the problem of theodicy: their reasons for having no reason to defend God and their ethics of love, which is an ethics of gift. Both of them follow Kant's practical turn of the problem of theodicy, oppose Hegel's theodicy through history and anticipate Levinas' idea to look for the traces of God's transcendence in human movements of self-transcendence. Moreover, they have remarkable contributions to the current debates on 'metaphysics of presence' and 'onto-theology' – debates that are dealing with the limits of Husserl's and Heidegger's phenomenology. Therefore, it seems fruitful to discuss their responses with reference both to German idealism and Husserlian phenomenology (introduced in Part I) and with reference to French phenomenology (introduced in Part III).

Part III discusses Kierkegaard's and Rosenzweig's approaches in dialogue with three French thinkers. Accordingly, it is divided into three chapters that elaborate on three interdependent problems, namely (A.) the problem of God's alleged absence, (B.) the problem of the (im)possible gift and (C.) the problem of God's (non)phenomenality. More precisely, in dialogue with Levinas, the presence of God's love is in question, in dialogue with Derrida God's presence and love as a gift, and in dialogue with Marion the gift of God's presence as a 'saturated' self-giving phenomenon. The aforementioned seven aspects of the problem of theodicy return here in chapter (A.), yet on another level, since Part III presupposes and qualifies not only the considerations of Part I, but also the comparison of Kierkegaard's and Rosenzweig's responses as described and evaluated in Part II. The differentiation of three levels of discourse permits me to advance chronologically and systematically at the same time. This way, specific contexts of discussion that are normally not connected with each other can be combined in a critical manner.

Finally seeing in synopsis the variations of putting the age-old problem of evil and the attempts to solve it throughout the centuries is an exciting experience. It has inspired me to make a new suggestion in the conclusive part of the book: the suggestion to develop theology as semiotic phenomenology of the Invisible. However, although a synoptic overview before one's inner eyes might seduce into thinking that one has, as it were, climbed a very high mountain to enjoy this panorama, it is decisive not to forget that this journey has been a trip in theory. But life goes on, the train of thought drives further, and many more mountains (and some molehills made into mountains) wait to be climbed by us in praxis. After all, putting theoretical knowledge into practice usually takes even longer than it takes to write and read a book. That is the reason why the conclusion of this book must remain an inconclusive one. The reader who lets the book end where it begins has understood it best: in the midst of daily life. This is also my privileged place and time to say Thank-you to all those who have been there, from where my book originates.

Acknowledgments

My first thanks goes to Ingolf U. Dalferth, for his far-sighted and open-minded supervision of my project. I am grateful for all his support over the years and the generous way he has let me go my own way. It lies in the nature of scientific work that many ways are lonely ways and most discoveries made silently. But the most vivid of my memories concern the splendid conversations that enriched this work. My thanks is also addressed to Pierre Bühler, above all for the constructive criticism in his evaluation of my thesis, which helped me to sharpen some formulations, but also for his friendliness and reliable cooperativeness. Further, I would like to express my gratitude to Hendrik J. Adriaanse. Although he was in no way obliged to read anything I have written, he volunteered to read the whole manuscript, which was at that time even longer than it is now. I am glad about his insightful remarks from which I have learned a lot. Particularly I wish to thank Arne Grøn, without whom I would neither have begun to write this book, nor been able to finish it without his encouragement, attentiveness and calm advice. His lecture course on Kjerlighedens Gjerninger in Tübingen has been the thought-awakening beginning and his research the continued inspiration of my explorations.

I am thankful for all who have been there as my friends and shared with me the pains and pleasures of writing this book. My special thanks go to Iben Damgaard, Hami Verbin and Carl Cederberg, who have read parts of the manuscript and made me reconsider some important points before it went to print. Many thanks also to René Korsholm Rosfort, Søren Overgaard, Richard Purkarthofer, Hagi Kanaan, Hans Martin Dober, Cornelia Richter, Franzisca Pilgram-Frühauf, and Rebekka Klein, who have read articles related to my dissertation and took their time to reply with critical comments.

Laughing together is at least as stimulating as being involved in serious discussions. I wish to say ‘Thank you’ not only to those who have said something to my dissertation, but also to those whose presence in my everyday life at different research institutions and university departments has contributed to concentrated work and pleasant pauses in a favorable atmosphere.

As a Ph.D. student I was mainly affiliated with the Institute for Hermeneutics and Philosophy of Religion in Zurich, where I have profited from challenging seminar sessions and adventurous thought experiments. In this context, I would like to thank especially Philipp Stoellger, Dirk Evers, Andreas Mauz, Christoph Ammann, Andreas Hunziker, Andrea Anker-Meier, and Karin Scheiber. What had been planned as a short-term research stay at the Center for Subjectivity Research in Copenhagen was prolonged several times, and I kept coming back. I very much approve of the excellent working conditions and the magnificent companionship in an international and interdisciplinary scientific community. Thanks to all members of the team, namely, in addition to those already mentioned: Dan Zahavi, Josef Parnas, Dorothée Legrand, Joel Krueger, Thor Grünbaum, Rasmus Thybo Jensen, Morten Sørensen Thanning, Line Ryberg Ingerslev, Johan Eckhart Hansen, Gry Ardal Christensen, Simon Rodovský, and, last but not least, Pia Kirkemann Hansen, who is, as it were, the ‘center of the Center.’ Additional thanks to Eva Schwarz, who was a wonderful office-mate, and to Lisa Käll, Thomas Brudholm and Wenche Marit Quist – former colleagues at the CFS, who are much more than that.

For half a year I returned to Germany and attended courses on Hegel’s philosophy of religion and the Phenomenology of Spirit at the University of Hamburg. I would like to thank Jörg Dierken, Michael Moxter and all others whose presence has turned this period into a fruitful time, above all Martin Zerrath, Christina Ehring, Gwendolin Schneider, Miriam Volmert, and the reading circle around Anne-Maren Richter. In winter 2005, I spent a few weeks as a guest researcher at the Franz Rosenzweig Research Center in Jerusalem, which was made possible by Paul Mendes-Flohr and a stipend from the Minerva Foundation. I am particularly grateful for the meetings with Sandra Lehmann and Ashraf Noor, with whom I could speak about Rosenzweig. Elazar Benyoëtz has not only been a partner of a Jewish-Christian dialogue on Job, the problem of theodicy, etc., but a friend whom I missed as soon as I left. I would also like to thank Rabbi Daniel Epstein for an unforgettable conversation on Levinas, which began, after I apologized for disturbing his lunch break, with the words: “Don’t be sorry, be yourself!” and ended with an invitation: “You are welcome to disturb me again.”

In summer 2006, shortly before I had to hand in my dissertation, I returned to Copenhagen and spent two intensive months at the Søren Kierkegaard Research Center. Thanks to all who have made the place into such a hospitable environment in which to work, especially to Niels Jørgen Cappelørn, Bjarne Laurberg Olsen, Jon Stewart, Ettore Rocca, Brian Söderquist, Karsten Kynde, Anne Mette Hansen, Irene Ring, Joakim Garff, Pia Søltøft, Gerhard Schreiber and Andrea Scaramuccia. Moreover, I want to mention a few persons who have, in that final countdown, been ‘upbuilding’ in the best sense of the word: Lene and Gerardo Palma, whose warmhearted openness has made their place into my refuge, and Bernhard Obsieger, who dropped in for thoughtful small talks and offered coffee when I was back at the CFS and worked there late at night.

I also owe thanks to those who gave me an opportunity to present a paper and to all who responded with a constructive feedback. In addition to the conferences in Zurich and in Copenhagen, there were some more that had an impact on the text in hand, first of all the yearly Kierkegaard colloquium in or around Frankfurt, where Hermann Deuser induced a therapeutic shock and drastic methodological change by commenting the very first presentation of my project with the words: “Wenn Sie so weitermachen, sind Sie in zehn Jahren noch nicht fertig.” In this initial phase of work I could also participate in a doctoral seminar in Tübingen and would like to thank Eilert Herms for his sharp and relentless analysis of Rosenzweig’s Star of Redemption, which called my attention to problems of which I was not aware before. Further, the discussions at the Amsterdam conference on the problem of evil, organized by Hendrik M. Vroom, and at the Berlin workshop on theories of representation, organized by Thomas Wabel, were especially instructive for my work.

Many people have at some point been partners of an occasional conversation about a topic of my dissertation. I wish to thank Michael Olesen, Dorothea Glöckner, George Pattison, Werner Jeanrond, Heiko Schulz, Markus Kleinert, Tim Hagemann, Hans-Peter Großhans, Michael Bongardt, Sebastian Maly, Dorin Dömland, René Dausner, and Katharina Heyden. I also want to thank Eva Petersen, who just like that took the complete third edition of Kierkegaard’s Samlede Værker out of her bookshelf and gave it to me. Moreover, I owe a mighty thanks to Erika Schaudt, who has promoted my theological studies from their very start and has accompanied my way for nearly 20 years now with untiring interest, kindness and generosity. Many more people have, without knowing, left their traces between the lines of this book. I would have to tell the story of my life if I was to do justice to them all, to those whom I have met just recently, and to those old friends who keep in touch from far away despite my frequent moves.

Finally, I wish to express my appreciation to those persons and institutions that brought my research project on its way and to those who were indispensable for the completion of this book. I would like to thank Eberhard Jüngel and an anonymous reviewer for their recommendations and the Evangelische Studiengemeinschaft Villigst e.V. for granting me a stipend, Alan Charles Duncan for carefully checking and correcting my English, and Frederik Mortensen for establishing the camera-ready version of the manuscript. I am indebted to the Danish National Research Foundation: Center for Subjectivity Research for a substantial financial subsidy. At Mohr Siebeck I want to thank the editorial board for the admission into the RPT series, and Henning Ziebritzki, Jana Trispel and Lisa Laux for their competent help.

I am more than thankful for my family, on whose support I could count in happiness and sadness just alike. The book is dedicated to my parents, Peter and Doris Welz, from whom I have received much more than I could ever account for.

Copenhagen, November 2007

Claudia Welz

Table of Contents

Introduction	1
1. The Central Theme: The Problem of Theodicy and Problems with Theodicies	1
2. Between Good and Evil? Hermeneutical Considerations and Methodological Conclusions	5
3. The Structure and the Guiding Questions of this Study	13
A. The (Non)Presence of God's Love	17
B. God's Love as an (Im)Possible Gift	18
C. The Gift of God's Presence as Love – A Phenomenon?	20

Part I

Subjectivity and the Ambiguity of God's Transcendence

1. The Relation between Transcendence and Immanence.....	22
1.1 Traditional Distinctions and Problems.....	23
a) Gradual and Absolute Transcendence	23
b) Spatiotemporal Imagery and Dialectics of the Limit	24
c) Transcendence of Thought – Transcending Thoughts?	25
d) God's Transcendence vis-à-vis, in or Underlying the World?	26
1.2 Schleiermacher: God's Presence as Transcendent Ground of Being and Thinking.....	27
2. Husserl's Phenomenology and Divine Transcendence.....	30
2.1 The Intentionality of Consciousness.....	31
a) The Constitution of Intentional Objects.....	31
b) Temporality and the Self-Givenness of Time-Consciousness	33
c) Conscious Co-Presence with God Transcendent? Husserl and Schleiermacher	36
d) Constitution as an Intersubjectively Mediated Process.....	37
e) The Intersubjective Dimension of Husserl's Philosophical Theology	40

2.2 Divine Transcendence in Immanence – A Phenomenon?.....	45
a) God’s Transcendence in Relation to Transcendental Subjectivity.....	45
b) Phenomenology and ‘Metaphysics’.....	47
c) The Wonder of Rationality as Reference to God.....	50
d) The Dipolarity of the Divine.....	51
e) Divine Presence or Absence?.....	54
3. God’s Presence as Phenomenon.....	57
3.1 The (In)Adequacy of the Phenomenological Method.....	57
3.2 The Experience of God’s Presence and Its Effect: Re-orientation of Experience.....	58
3.3 God’s Presence as Phenomenon-in-a-horizon and the Horizon-of-all-horizons.....	60
3.4 The Complexity of God’s Phenomenal Presence.....	62
3.5 God’s Presence – Given only as a Gift?.....	62
4. Dialectics of God’s Givenness and Hiddenness.....	64
4.1 Neither Present nor Absent? Modalities of Divine Distance.....	64
4.2 Absence as a Mode of God’s Presence?.....	65
a) The Absence of the Creator as Agent-among-agents and His Spiritual Presence.....	65
b) Evil and Lack of Love.....	67
4.3 God’s (Mis)Interpreted Transcendence.....	68
5. The Phenomenological Moment in German Idealism and the Problem of Theodicy.....	70
5.1 Hegel’s Phenomenology and Divine Transcendence.....	71
a) The Absolute Spirit as Subject/Object of Consciousness.....	71
b) Dialectical Mediation of Transcendence with Immanence.....	74
c) History as Theodicy.....	76
d) Reconciled with Negativity: Reason as ‘The Rose in the Cross of the Present’.....	78
5.2 Kant “On the Failure of All Philosophical Attempts at Theodicy”.....	83

Part II
Reasons for Having No Reason to Defend God –
Kierkegaard’s and Rosenzweig’s Alternatives to Theodicy

I. Kierkegaard	89
1. Explaining Experiences of God’s Absence, Distance or Hiddenness	91
1.1 Searching for God’s Invisible Presence	91
1.2 Sin and the Relational Self	92
1.3 The Problem and Promise of Language	94
1.4 The Limitations of Explanations and Prayer as a Lifelong Process of Transfiguration.....	96
1.5 Provisional Result	97
1.6 The Apophatic Dimension of Kierkegaard’s Theology	99
1.6.1 The 1843 Discourses on James 1:17-22	99
a) God’s (Non)Givenness as Self-Giving Gift	99
b) The Absolute Good and Its Metaphorical Articulation	101
c) The Logic of Gift – Logic of Mediation?	106
1.6.2. Works of Love : Love’s Hidden Origin, Life and Works.....	108
1.6.2.1 Divine Love as Reduplication	108
a) Love Linking the Temporal and the Eternal	109
b) Love’s Manifestation in Interiority and Its Hiddenness in Exteriority.....	110
1.6.2.2 Like for Like	112
a) The Relation between God and Self – Mediated by the Relation to the Neighbor.....	112
b) The Relation between Self and Neighbor – in Relation to God as the ‘Middle Term’	114
c) Love’s Infinitude and the Correspondence between Receiving and Giving.....	115
2. The Presence of God Transcendent Becoming Present to Us.....	117
2.1 God’s Omnipresence and Omnipotence in Relation to Phenomenality.....	117
2.2 God’s Presence in Trinitarian Differentiations.....	120
2.3 God’s Presence in Relation to Human Action	121
3. Immanence and Transcendence	123
3.1 Contrast or Dialectical Interrelation?.....	123

3.2 Works of Love – A Phenomenology of God’s Love as ‘Phenomenology of Spirit’?.....	125
3.2.1 Methodological Problems.....	125
3.2.2 Kierkegaard and Hegel at the Crossroads.....	128
3.2.2.1 The Meaning of ‘Phenomenology of Spirit’.....	129
a) Focus on Knowledge or Praxis?.....	129
b) Divine Love – A Phenomenon?.....	130
3.2.2.2 The Meaning of the ‘Reduplication’ of God’s Love.....	131
a) Divine Love – A Dialectical Process Including Negativity?.....	131
b) Divine and Human Love – Uniting and Identifying the Different?.....	133
c) Self-Recuperation or Self-Expenditure without Return?..	135
3.2.3 Preliminary Conclusion and Discussion: Kierkegaard – A Phenomenologist?.....	136
4. How to Transcend and Transform Negativity?.....	140
4.1 Transcendence of Faith: Spiritual Contemporaneity with God’s Eternal Presence.....	140
4.2 Transcendence of Love: Eternity in Time.....	144
4.3 Transcendence of Hope: Patiently Expecting the Future of the Past.....	146
5. Divine and Human Love.....	149
5.1 Agapeistic Ethics Founded on Religion.....	149
5.2 Commanded Love: Changelessly Love in All Its Changes.....	150
6. How to Comprehend Incomprehensible Love?.....	151
6.1 Works of Love – Virtue Ethics?.....	151
6.2 Love – An Emotion?.....	157
6.2.1 Affirmation: Letting Oneself Be Moved.....	158
6.2.2 Opposition.....	160
a) The Priority of the God-Relationship: Love as Ground of Everything.....	161
b) The Priority of Action: Love as Fulfillment of the Law.....	162
c) The Priority of Duty over Immediacy: Love Secured against Despair.....	163
6.3 Love of the Neighbor and the Difference in Passion.....	166
6.4 Elskov or Forkjerlighed versus Aandens Kjerlighed ?.....	168
7. Reasons for Having No Reason to Defend God.....	172
7.1 Kierkegaard’s Interpretation of Job’s Story.....	172
7.2 The Impossibility of Theodicy.....	175
7.3 Review and Evaluation.....	179

II. Rosenzweig	182
1. Explaining Experiences of God's Absence, Distance or Hiddenness	184
1.1 God's Hiddenness apart from and in Spite of Revelation.....	184
a) The Hiddenness of the Non-Revealed Metaphysical God.....	184
b) The Hiddenness of God's Essence in Revelation	187
c) In Truth: The Dissolution of the Essence of the Revealed God.....	189
1.2 The Not-Yet of God's All-Love	191
1.3 The Revealing Role of Language.....	193
1.4 The Void of Love in the Sinner's View	195
2. The Presence of God Transcendent	197
2.1 God's Presence in Relation to Phenomenality: Manifestations in Human Language	197
a) The Name.....	197
b) Love's Allegory: More than Allegorical – Ephemeral in Appearance, Eternal in Truth	200
2.2 God's Timelessness and the 'Trinity' of His Temporal Relations to His Creatures.....	206
a) The Past and the Continued Present of Creation.....	208
b) The Present of Revelation in the Middle of Time.....	208
c) The Future and the Anticipated Present of Redemption.....	210
d) God's Temporalized and Timeless Eternity	210
2.3 Phenomenality as Deception? God's Presence in Relation to Human Action	212
3. Immanence and Transcendence	215
3.1 Changing Relations	216
3.2 The Star of Redemption – A Phenomenology of God's Love as 'Phenomenology of Spirit'?	219
3.2.1 The Spirit that Separates and the Love that Unites	219
a) Rosenzweig's Polemics against a Deified Spirit and a Spiritualized God	220
b) Rosenzweig's Acceptance of a Human Spirit of Transmission and Translation.....	220
3.2.2 How to Speak of God's Love?	222
a) Love's History: A Dialogical rather than a Dialectical Process	222
b) Love's Relationality: Related to Alterity beyond Monistic Self-Relations	223
c) Love's Experience: Praxis rather than Knowledge	223

d) Love's Phenomenalization and the Co-Appearance of the Horizon of Interpretation.....	224
4. How to Transcend and Transform Negativity?	225
4.1 Jews and Christians in Relation to Time and Suffering.....	226
a) The Eternity of the Jewish People – A Denial of Time?.....	226
b) The Eternity of the Christian Peoples – A Rule over Time? ...	228
c) The Sublimation of Suffering and the Parable of the Seed-Grain	229
4.2 Transcendence of Faith: The Power of Perseverance	233
4.3 Love's Eternity: Renewal of the Moment	236
4.4 Transcendence of Hope: Anticipating and Accelerating the Coming of the Kingdom	238
5. Divine and Human Love	240
5.1 God's Love and Trusting Faith as Requited Love	240
5.2 Neighbor Love and Its Presupposition beyond Freedom.....	242
6. Love in Life – Not in Theory	244
6.1 Love – A Virtue? The Event of Momentary Self-Transformation	244
6.2 Love – An Emotion?.....	245
6.3 Commanded Love of Neighbor: Always a New Beginning.....	246
6.4 Eternal Love – The Spirit that Unites?.....	247
7. Reasons for Having No Reason to Defend God.....	251
7.1 The Job-Like Questions, the Voice of Job's Wife, and the Error of his Friends	252
7.2 Farewell to Theodicy?	257
7.2.1 Rosenzweig's Interpretation of Hegel's Theodicy through History	257
7.2.2 Rosenzweig's Alternative to Hegel's Theodicy.....	261
a) The Need for Redemption from History	261
b) Religion as Redemption from History in History	264
c) Teleology toward Timelessness: A Never-Ending Happy Ending?.....	267
7.3 Review and Evaluation	270

Part III

From German Idealism to French Phenomenology

A. In Dialogue with Levinas: With(out) the Consolation of God's Presence
1. The Philosophical Background: Heidegger's Criticism of 'Metaphysics of Presence'	277
a) The Presence of the Self-Conscious Subject	278
b) The Presence of the Noema	280
2. Levinas' Way of Dealing with the Problem of Theodicy	282
2.1 Explaining Experiences of God's Absence, Distance or Hiddenness	286
a) Enigma versus Phenomenon	286
b) Searching for an Absent God: Subjectivity as an Adieu in Desire and Distance	287
c) God's Illeity and the Saying in Witness of His Trace	288
d) God's Absence – Sin of Omission?	291
2.2 God's (Non)Presence	293
a) God's Transcendence in Relation to Time and Time-Consciousness	293
b) God's Transcendence as Reference to the Proximity of the Neighbor	294
2.3 Absolute Transcendence?	297
2.4 How to Transcend and Transform Negativity?	298
a) Interhuman Phenomenology of Suffering and the Breakthrough of the Good	298
b) Love and Justice	300
c) God's Withdrawal and the Futurition of a Finite Future	302
2.5 Compelled to Goodness: Loving the Neighbor without Receiving God's Love	305
2.6 Non-Erotic Love: Responsibility	312
2.7 Reasons for Having No Reason to Defend God	313
a) Job's Suffering – Beyond the Morality of Reward and Punishment	313
b) Against Theodicy!	314
2.8 Interlude: The Challenge of Comparing	317
3. With(out) the Consolation of God's Presence – Synchrony versus Diachrony?	319

B. In Dialogue with Derrida: The Present of Love's Transcendence – An Impossible Gift?

1. Derrida's Criticism of 'Metaphysics of Presence' in Husserl's Phenomenology 327
2. The Impossible Gift: A Present that Cannot be (a) Present 329
 - 2.1 The Gift as a Non-Present 330
 - 2.2 The Gift versus Economy 331
 - 2.3 How to Re-Present a Gift? Language as Counterfeit Money.... 331
3. The Problem of Gift and the Problem of Theodicy 332
 - 3.1 Present within or despite Appearances? 333
 - 3.2 Love as a Possible Gift 337
 - 3.3 Donation as Communication: The Economy of the Gift 343

C. In Dialogue with Marion: Phenomenality and Revelation

1. Marion's Project 352
 - 1.1. "The Saturated Phenomenon" 352
 - 1.2. "The Gift of God's Presence" 357
2. Marion's Project in the Context of the French Debate 361
 - 2.1. Beyond the Limits of Husserl's Phenomenology? 361
 - 2.2. The Debate with Derrida: The (Im)Possibility of a Phenomenology of the Gift 362
3. Problems and Prospects 364
 - 3.1 Being Given and Becoming Gifted 364
 - 3.2 Phenomenality and Revelation 366
 - 3.3 A Vision of God? 370

Inconclusive Conclusion 375

1. Retrospection: Kierkegaard and Rosenzweig between German Idealism and French Phenomenology 375
2. Theology as Phenomenology of the Invisible 378
3. God's (Non)Phenomenality and the Problem of Theodicy 384

Bibliography 389

Indexes 413

Introduction

1. The Central Theme: The Problem of Theodicy and Problems with Theodicies

The central theme of this study is the problem of theodicy. This problem, however, shall be examined with the aim of finding alternative responses that do not end up in a theodicy. The term ‘theodicy’ goes back to Gottfried Wilhelm von Leibniz’ Essais de Théodicée sur la bonté de Dieu, la liberté de l’homme et l’origine du mal (1710). It is a coinage combining the Greek words θεός (God) and δικη (justice). In its standard Enlightenment version, ‘theodicy’ stands for a procedure, in which God, the creator of the world, who is accused for the imperfection of the world, is defended and justified before the tribunal of human reason. The problem of theodicy deals with the question of how the theistic belief in an omnipotent, omniscient and perfectly good God is compatible with the experience that there is evil in the world. In its simplest classic form, the problem can be articulated as follows: If God is willing but not able to prevent evil, then he is impotent; if he is able but not willing, then he is malevolent. But if he is both able and willing, whence then is evil?¹

As an attempt to reconcile the hypothesized existence of God with the perceived existence of evil through the exercise of reason alone, theodicy came to be synonymous with theologia naturalis that wants to make belief in God reasonable by solving the opposing difficulties – without recurring to faith in God’s self-revelation. Put as a theoretical problem of logical consistency, there seems to be a contradiction between different propositions concerning God’s relation to the world. The alleged contradiction emerges on condition “that good is opposed to evil, in such a way that a good thing always eliminates evil as far as it can, and that there are no limits to what an omnipotent thing can do. From this it follows that a good omnipotent thing eliminates evil completely, and then the proposition that a good omnipotent thing exists, and that evil exists, are incompatible.”² Basically, there are two types of suggested solutions in order to avoid these contradictions:

¹ This is a shorter version of Epicurus’ formulation of the problem, which David Hume has put into the mouth of Philo in Part X of Dialogues Concerning Natural Religion (1779).

1. First, the notion of evil could be weakened. This can be done, for example, by means of ontological arguments that deny that evil exists in and for itself; instead of being something, malum nihil est or prope nihil, nothing but a parasitical phenomenon that appears as a lack of goodness, as privatio boni. Or, according to epistemological arguments, evil is only a subjective and illusory impression that something is evil. Aesthetical arguments prettify evil as a necessary contrast that allows us to see and appreciate the harmony of the world as a whole, in which evil has an indispensable function – be it defined as creaturely imperfection and mortality, i.e. malum metaphysicum, as physical pain and suffering, i.e. malum physicum, or as evil we have done, i.e. malefactum or malum morale, also in the sense of sin or unbelief, infidelitas. Teleological arguments legitimize evil as a transitional stage within a dialectical process of historical development. Pedagogical arguments instrumentalize evil as a means to a better end, serving to educate us, making us more mature: πάθος μάθος, or: per aspera ad astra (which is less cynical if it is said in retrospect).

2. Secondly, the understanding of God could be modified through a redefinition of the attributes that characterize him. God’s goodness, for instance, does not necessarily imply that God wills exclusively what looks good in our eyes; it could also imply that he permits some evils if they are inevitable for the sake of higher goods. God’s omnipotence does not necessarily imply that God can do everything he wills; it could also imply that his power is restricted in this world, where he can only do that which corresponds with logical rules and with His goodness and allows human freedom to interact with him. On such grounds it can be admitted without reservation that there is evil; however, this is evil which is not at variance with God’s goodness and omnipotence.

But even if the propositions ‘God is wholly good,’ ‘God is almighty’ and ‘evil exists’ are not logically incompatible, it is uncontested that this constellation contains a dissonance. Already after the Lissabon earthquake in 1755 and all the more after Auschwitz, the optimism of theodicies that try to harmonize even the most horrendous evils with God’s goodness has become suspect. The suggested solutions and the standard presentation of the problem have become problematical themselves.

The problem has been presented as a puzzle that can be resolved rationally – by rationalizing the relation between God and evil. Both types of solutions presuppose that human reason has the final say and is entitled to judge – without further appeal. The arguments justifying God in view of evil or evil in view of God do, above all, justify the respective understanding of God and evil.³ As a matter of principle, theodicies tend to minimize the scandal of evil by arguing for its intelligibility or necessity in general and in the abstract. They cannot acknowledge that we might be faced with particular evils we cannot make sense of, or with an excess of suffering that is definitely not necessary for a larger whole or a greater good, and does not bring about growth and character-development, but rather degradation and disheartenment. Theodicies are all-embracing theories that attempt to demonstrate that all is really right with this world, but none of them manages to cover any case occurring. Let me give two examples: The soul-making theodicy⁴ provides no justification for the suffering of people who die young, before they have had any chance to respond to challenges and to master temptations, let alone for animal pain. The Free Will Defense⁵ holds that not even God can cause a person to do freely what is right, but that libertarian free will is of such a great value that the risk of its misuse must be taken; however, even if God respects the free choices of his creatures, the appeal to free will provides no justification for evils caused by natural processes, such as hurricanes, which do not at all or at least not directly result from morally wrong actions.

² Mackie, J.L., “Evil and Omnipotence” (1955) in: B. Mitchell (ed.), The Philosophy of Religion, Oxford 1971, 92-104, 93.

In sum, theodicies can neither show that God has actually been good to a particular person in a specific situation, nor can they prove that he has overcome evil on the global scale or is able and willing to do so.

Would-be anti-theodicists who sacrifice the affirmation that God is able to overcome evil⁶ and explore only how God himself suffers and shares the ³ For a historical overview of various arguments and counterarguments see the essays in Oelmüller, W. (ed.), Theodizee – Gott vor Gericht?, München 1990, especially 9-32.72-86; see also Ammicht-Quinn, R., Von Lissabon bis Auschwitz. Zum Paradigmenwechsel in der Theodizeefrage, Freiburg/Schweiz et al. 1992, 217-251; Janssen, H.-G., Gott – Freiheit – Leid. Das Theodizeeproblem in der Philosophie der Neuzeit, Darmstadt ²1993; Geyer, C.-F., Leid und Böses in philosophischen Deutungen, Freiburg im Breisgau et al. 1983. For further discussions see Wagner, H./Menke, K.-H. (eds.), Mit Gott streiten. Neue Zugänge zum Theodizee-Problem, Freiburg im Breisgau et al. 1998; Oelmüller, W. (ed.), Worüber man nicht schweigen kann. Neue Diskussionen zur Theodizeefrage, München 1994; Geyer, C.-F., Die Theodizee. Diskurs, Dokumentation, Transformation, Stuttgart 1992.

⁴ Cf. Hick, J., Evil and the God of Love, Houndmills ²1993.

⁵ Cf. Plantinga, A., God, Freedom and Evil, London 1975; Plantinga, A., “The Free Will Defence” in: M. Black (ed.), Philosophy in America, London 1965, 204-220.

⁶ Many of them refer to Jonas, H., “Der Gottesbegriff nach Auschwitz. Eine jüdische Stimme” in: O. Hofius (ed.), Reflexionen in finsterner Zeit. Zwei Vorträge von F. Stern und H. Jonas, Tübingen 1984, 61-84. His lecture is the classic example of the reception of the kabbalistic idea that God renounced his omnipotence when he created the world. In Christian theology, the idea of God’s kenosis and compassion is primarily connected with Jesus’ crucifixion. However, if the idea of God’s powerlessness is used to excuse his non-intervention that allows all kinds of cruelties to happen, one can rightly ask whether the price for his (deliberately chosen!) defenselessness is not too high, since it costs him many burden of pain with his creatures are nevertheless engaged in the business of justifying God (or his helpless love) and do not solve, but intensify the problem of evil, which is not solved before evil is transformed into good and before pointless suffering is abolished, be it human or divine. Others refuse to defend God because they rely on the hypothesis of God's eschatological self-defense or apologia.⁷ However, they either have to accept the euphemism that evil will turn out to be not as bad as it seems to be for the time being, which justifies it afterwards and ignores the question why God lets us wait so long until the sense of the seemingly senseless will be apparent, or they do hope, believe and trust that God can and ultimately will bring out good out of all conceivable evils, but this neither makes these evils good nor renders them explicable here and now.

If we are neither willing to give up the belief in God's goodness and creative power nor the recognition of the range of evils and the brokenness of his creation, then the most consequent alternative to theodicy consists in admitting that there are no satisfying explanations for why God permits evil to occur, in conceding that this question is completely legitimate but utterly unanswerable, and in being clear about what cannot be made clear – like the origin and purpose of evil in the good creation of a good and powerful God: “To be clear that there is a problem with no solution may not be very satisfying, but it avoids creating further problems.”⁸ This option involves a shift of emphasis: instead of seeking systematic coherence, we are to seek a way of dealing with disharmony that we cannot resolve into harmony and with the provocation of a theoretically insoluble problem. Admitting the fact suffering persons. See Levinas, E., “Judentum und Christentum nach Franz Rosenzweig. Ein Gespräch” in: G. Fuchs/H.H. Henrix (eds.), Zeitgewinn. Messianisches Denken nach Franz Rosenzweig, Frankfurt am Main 1987, 163-183, 170.

⁷ In this line, some Christian theologians still wait for God's outstanding apology to his creation and see it as the task of (not only their) theology to call him to account, cf. Groß, W./Kuschel, H.-J., „Ich schaffe Finsternis und Unheil!“ Ist Gott verantwortlich für das Übel?, Mainz ²1995, 212f. A much more modest version of this extravagant expectation is the certainty that God's justice will become evident one day – without being judged and without judging according to human criteria, cf. Ebeling, G., Dogmatik des christlichen Glaubens III: Der Glaube an Gott den Vollender der Welt, Tübingen ³1993, 518f, who identifies God's apologia with the iustificatio impiorum, i.e. the justification of human beings through God, who does justice even to sinners and makes them just even if they do not deserve it. In a personal conversation on this topic, Hilde Domin has drawn a good comparison: If we demand of God to apologize for what he has (not) done, then we treat him like a silly little boy from the neighborhood, who has been up to his tricks.

⁸ This is the conclusion of Kilby, K., “Evil and the limits of theology” in: New Blackfriars 84 (2003), 13-29. Her article contains an illuminating critique not only of various types of theodicies, but also of contemporary criticisms of theodicy.

that we do not know God's reasons for permitting a given evil does not exclude the possibility that he has reasons for doing so, even if we will never grasp his plans here.

2. Between Good and Evil? Hermeneutical Considerations and Methodological Conclusions

So far, it has become obvious that the problem of theodicy cannot be solved by theodicies, for it concerns all dimensions of human existence (thinking, feeling and acting alike) and cannot be reduced to a purely speculative problem of coherence.⁹ In what follows, I will (1) explain the epistemological and hermeneutical challenge and argue that it can best be met by a double approach that combines theology and phenomenology. Instead of defending the creator of the world (or the belief in his goodness, power, etc.) before the tribunal of human reason, and instead of inquiring into the origin and (non)sense of evil, my investigation will focus on God's (non)phenomenality. Further, I will (2) introduce a model of philosophy of religion in the sense of a philosophy of orientation, which can help us to come to grips also with the emotional and practical challenges.

1. The difficulty is that neither evil nor God's goodness can be seen 'as such.' Neither evil nor God's goodness is 'something' that 'has' a certain appearance or has a characteristic 'look' to it; rather, the interpretation of that which does appear is dependent on the observer who looks on it from his or her perspective. Evil appears only by means of something else and in relation to someone for whom a certain state of affairs appears as evil with regard to certain concerns. One and the same thing or event can appear as evil for one person in a specific position but as good for another person in another context. However, the relativity and perspectivity of value judgments is not to be equated with arbitrariness or indifference. Although the respective point of view is decisive for what we see and how we see it, there are conventional criteria that determine the formal characteristics of relations that can rightly be called 'good' or 'evil.' For instance, we can define 'good' as being equivalent with 'helpful to life' and 'evil' with 'harmful to life.' Take chemotherapy as an example: it possibly cures the person who has cancer, but could poison another person. It is even more ambivalent: on the one hand, it helps against a particular disease but, on the other hand, has harmful side effects. It can be experienced as good and as evil at the same time – by one and the same person.

This example shows that value judgments, far from being neutral, are always linked to complex experiences. That is the reason why suffering can, but needs not necessarily be ‘evil’; whether it is experienced as destructive or has also a positive meaning for those concerned is not to be decided by an observer on the outside but only from first person perspective. If the sufferer him- or herself does experience it as harmful, then no one else has the right to declare it healthful. The sufferer’s self-understanding in relation to what (s)he suffers decides upon its evaluation. An experience is not just a collection of sense impressions which is interpreted afterwards; rather, the experience itself is a way of seeing-as. In experiencing something, it acquires the meaning we give to it. The meaning we contribute to what we live through can, however, change in the course of life and experience.

⁹ Cf. Ricœur, P., Le mal: un défi à la philosophie et la théologie, Geneva 32004. I wish to thank Pierre Bühler for having called my attention to this little book. After having finished the dissertation without knowing it, I was surprised and pleased to discover the affinities between our answers to the challenge.

How are these ambivalent experiences related to God? Provided that it is not legitimate to infer from their ambivalence to God’s non-existence, how can we know whether he is good or evil or both? Does the fact that he also permits negative experiences tell anything about God and the way he relates to us? The aforementioned definition of ‘good’ and ‘evil’ has an interesting implication: While anything that exists can be judged as (at least potentially) ‘evil,’ i.e. while ‘evil’ can be attributed to everything, ‘evil’ understood as a noun or nominalized adjective cannot be substantive, cannot exist independently as a reality or entity in itself, since it would destroy its own life. Evil can only occur together and in conflict with what is good and beneficial. Therefore, it can only be perceived in or at something else, forming a contrast to it; or it is hidden sub contrario. It is this ambiguity which makes it so difficult to discern it – in principle it could be found everywhere, even in God. However, the relation between good and evil is not symmetrical; evil always participates in the good on which it lives, but the reverse is not true, since life is not dependent on the negation of life. Consequently, evil cannot be identical with the absolute, whereas the absolute can well be identical with the good, relating itself to something that is different from itself.

Let us suppose that this relation is creative. If we hold fast to the idea that a good God creates, wills and achieves only the good – whence then is evil? The question is still open. Or shall we assume that a good God creates good and evil, or that the good he has created cannot but become ambivalent as soon as a plurality of moral agents with competing interests have to interact? On the one hand, the latter assumption does not explain why a good God should not intervene in heinously evil actions, if he has the power to prevent them. Besides, if the creation of a virtuous sinless world were impossible, then the promise of a new world where evil will be defeated would be a lie; but if such a world is possible and God plans to realize it, why was our world not also made this way? Apparently, God does not exercise controlling power upon his creation. On the other hand, if we acknowledge that we are given competence for free actions, should we not also acknowledge that it is we who are responsible for these actions and their effects, not God? Theodicies, however, treat him not only like an agent among other agents, but also as a sort of super-agent, whose plan for the world is the reason why things happen as they do, who is accused whenever we experience something that we think we do not deserve, who is responsible also for the misuse of our freedom and whose morality is to be judged by us. But is this a correct depiction of God's relation to the world, and are we entitled to judge him according to some utility principle, and to call him 'good' as long as he seems to make himself useful for us, and 'evil' whenever things are otherwise than we wish them to be?

Neither can the logical possibility that God is identical with goodness justify evil as an allegedly 'indispensable' counterpart to the good, nor can God's goodness simply be deduced from our ambivalent experiences. If God is not to be confused with the world, our experiences in and of this world cannot be identified with experiences of God himself; rather, we experience everything else in the light of our respective ideas of God. These ideas can neither be verified nor falsified empirically. This causes epistemological problems. It is possible, but not at all provable, that God loves his creatures, that he wills the best and transforms evil into good – why should anyone believe this rather than the opposite, or believe in disbelief?

Theology (understood in the widest sense of the word: as speech of, about and to God, or the critical reflection on this speech respectively) and phenomenology alike are confronted with the hermeneutical question of how to interpret that which appears as ambiguity. Phenomenology describes everything that appears and presents itself to consciousness in the 'how' of its experiential (cognitive, emotional, perceptual, sensory...) givenness, that is, as a phenomenon. Whatever can be experienced in this broadest sense of the term provokes a process of acquiring implicit or explicit beliefs on which we act and form our lives. But not only phenomenology deals with 'phenomena'; theology does so as well. Σώζειν τὰ φαινόμενα¹⁰ – save the appearances! – could be the program of both of them, be it elaborated in scientific or soteriological interest. Yet phenomena appear in complicated ways and are, or at least appear to be complicated. What reveals itself in appearing also conceals itself: φύσις κρύπτεσθαι φιλεῖ.¹¹ Speaking of ¹⁰ The original context of this dictum by Aristarchus of Samos is astronomical, and has to do with celestial phenomena.

¹¹ Heraclitus, Fr. 123, Themistius Or. 5, p. 69 D., in: The Presocratic Philosophers. A Critical History With A Selection of Texts, ed. G.S. Kirk/J.E. Raven, Cambridge 1957, 193. Cf. Heidegger's comment on φύσις ("das ständig Aufgehende," "das immerwährend Sichentbergende" – not: "das Wesen, das ὄν, das Was der Dinge") and on the whole fragment (in the following translations: "Das Sichentbergen liebt das Sichverbergen." – "Das Aufgehen ist als solches je schon dem Sichverschließen zugeneigt." – "Das Aufgehen (aus dem Sichverbergen) dem Sichverbergen schenkt's die Gunst."), in: Heidegger, M.,

God, we are not only faced with the ambiguity of the phenomena of our life and world. In addition to the phenomenological ‘game of hide-and-seek’ we are faced with the task of relating God’s (non)phenomenality, that is to say, his transcendence that becomes ambiguous as well, as soon as it appears and thereby becomes immanent, to this ambiguity of the worldly phenomena and the subjects to whom they appear. God’s transcendence can appear either in or in contrast to these appearances. The problem of theodicy is concerned with this double ambiguity of appearances.

Theodicies function as interpretation stoppers. They operate with predetermined propositions, which shall be brought in accordance with each other, and of course there can be only a limited number of constellations that meet this requirement. This makes them not only a bit boring over the years, but – and this is the much more serious problem – it makes them miss the phenomena instead of saving them. As announced at the beginning, this study seeks alternative solutions to the problem that do not end up in a theodicy. What is required, if this enterprise is to succeed, is both the tolerance of phenomena that appear in unusual ways and the passion of distinction that discerns between the ambiguity that can and should be dissolved in clarity, and the ambiguity that is unavoidable and remains unresolved. Affirming the need of ever-new interpretations of the ambiguous appearances, in which God can reveal or conceal himself, I will finally outline how theology could be developed as a ‘phenomenology of the Invisible.’

2. Given that no idea of God can be compared with God himself, what could serve as a discriminatory criterion that would allow to judge whether a particular idea of God is more or less appropriate than another idea? I suggest choosing a pragmatic criterion, namely the prospect of orientation these ideas might offer to persons in particular positions. Orientation is the ability to find one’s way – be it a road or one’s own way of life –, the capability of acting both in familiar and in new situations, which is the prerequisite for crisis management. In order to apply this criterion, we have to examine the retroactive effect that this or that idea of God and his relation to evil has or will have on the life of the respective person(s) relating to it. This suggestion presupposes that it makes a difference whether one interprets evil and suffering in the light of, e.g., the idea of a malevolent or a benevolent God – a difference that has consequences for one’s own self-understanding and behavior.

The biblical story of Job shall serve to illustrate this: Job is described as an upright man who eschews evil and lives a flourishing life as God’s friend Vorträge und Aufsätze, Pfullingen ⁶1990 (= VA), 259-267. Heidegger’s translation seems to be more adequate to me than the more literal one: “Die Natur liebt es sich zu verstecken.” See Diels, H., Die Fragmente der Vorsokratiker. Griechisch und Deutsch, Berlin ²1906, 79.

– until he experiences a disastrous series of misfortunes that befall him through no fault of his own: his whole property is destroyed, all his children are killed, and his body is stricken with sores from head to toe. He cannot help considering God to be responsible for the infliction of great harm upon him, although he cannot understand why God should have done so. Job is forced to reorient his life in relation to a God, who seems to have become his enemy (cf. Job 10). His friends try to excuse God, and accuse Job of being, himself, responsible for his suffering. However, their explanations do not help him to come to terms with what he goes through. What is at stake is the twofold question of how to cope with what is experienced as evil, and of how to maintain a relationship with God under these circumstances. At first sight, it seems as if the second part of the question could be evaded if we would say goodbye to God, deny his existence and leave a blank space in his place; but then it would be we (or something else) who inherit his role and responsibility. The problem would only be shifted, and would return on another level. If we should manage to ignore or forget God completely, we would not be faced with the problem of theodicy anymore, but we were still faced with the problem of how to cope with the evil we suffer or we do to others. However, as long as the word ‘God’ exists in our language, we inevitably shape some kind of relation to what we conceive of ‘God’ and are also confronted with the question of how ‘God’ is related to our problem of evil. Everyone can, of course, decide not to think about the problem of theodicy, but no one, neither atheists nor theists nor non-theists, can get rid of its existential dimension.

In everyday life, dealing with the problem of theodicy requires a continual coordination of (1) technical, (2) practical, and (3) theoretical efforts, i.e. the interplay between (1) the instrumental exercise of skills according to a guiding idea and as means to a certain end, (2) informed and committed action as an end in itself, including the ability to see the right thing to do in the circumstances, and (3) the critical reflection on both means and ends. None of these three modes of conscious action can be reduced to one of the others; rather, they condition each other. This distinction leans on the legacy of Aristotle, but also deviates from it. According to the threefold classification of disciplines in The Nicomachean Ethics,¹² the τέλος or purpose of theoretical disciplines is the contemplative attainment of knowledge for its own sake, the purpose of practical disciplines dealing with ethical and political life is practical wisdom, and the purpose of productive disciplines is to make something. However, while Aristotle tends to privilege contemplative thought, i.e. the philosophic activity (cf. NE X, 7-8), I would prefer to combine θεωρία, φρόνησις and τέχνη in a control circuit or feedback loop of modified world – new thoughts – new modification, etc. Whether it is true or not that unalloyed happiness is available to us only when we study the rational order of a world more orderly than ours, we nevertheless have to act in the all-too-human world we inhabit. This is always risky and requires prudent practical judgments about what is best in this situation.

¹² Cf. Aristotle, The Nicomachean Ethics with an English translation by H. Rackham (Loeb Classical Library 73), Cambridge/London ¹²1994 (= NE), the translation by W.D. Ross (<http://etext.library.adelaide.edu.au>), as well as the article on Aristotle’s ethics by R. Kraut in the Stanford Encyclopaedia of Philosophy (<http://plato.stanford.edu/entries/aristotle-ethics>).

All theories are limited in that no theory can help us to apply this very theory. Only through practice can we acquire those deliberative, emotional and social skills that enable us to translate the universal into the individual and to put general principles into practice in ways that are suitable to each occasion. Even if we do not act according to any theory, all we do is always already determined by a certain understanding of other persons and the situation in which we are. Concrete commitment – like, for example, identifying injustices, uncovering their causes and struggling against them, comforting and supporting those who are grieved, working for reconciliation – is always done in a certain attitude that expresses our point of view. The simple description of something as ‘evil’ as well as the most elaborate explanation of the relation between God and evil inevitably entails an (implicit or explicit) interpretation which orients both our deliberate action and our spontaneous and involuntary reactions.

How might we cope with suffering, if it cannot be avoided, and what has God to do with it? How can we cope with actual evils in our own lives, and in the lives of others? These are vital issues, age-old questions that, sooner or later, arise anew in every single human life. They find as many responses as there are situations in which human beings are confronted with them. Job’s case shows that no one can respond to the questions in place of someone else. Does this imply that evil and/or suffering¹³ can only be dealt with by the respective person him- or herself? On the one hand, everyone has to take responsibility for the way (s)he actually reacts, even if someone else gives advice as to how one should ideally handle the case. On the other hand, there can be cases in which the persons concerned would not say that they suffer, or they do not notice that they are involved in something that is evil for other persons (and, due to the interpersonal connectedness, very probably also for themselves, although the repercussions of their actions might not be felt immediately), or they notice it but do not admit it. In these cases, an uninvolved, outside observer can judge more clearly what is going on than the person(s) concerned. The definition of suffering, of evil, of the evil of suffering, of suffering evil and the difference between evil and ¹³ For a terminological analysis of (and differentiation between) evil and suffering cf. Dalferth, I.U., Leiden und Böses. Vom schwierigen Umgang mit Widersinnigem, Leipzig 2006 (= Dalferth 2006c), 11 ff.

Index of Scripture References

Genesis		Song of Songs
1:1	213	8:6	204, 337
2:18	135
		Isaiah
Exodus		11:1	232
3:14	188	11:10	232
13:21	61	31:10
19:18	306	41:14	256
21:24	113	43:12	214
33	290	44:6	269
33:20	353	48:12	269
		65:1	288
Leviticus		Jeremiah
19:18	67, 249	22:15-16	301
		23:24	269
Numbers		Hosea
6:25	195	13:14	256
11:17	306
15:31	202	Joel
1 Kings		3:1-5	221
19:12	353
Job		Micah
1:20-21	91, 344	6:8	251
1:21	172
10	173	Zechariah
19:25	256	14:9	190
Psalm		Matthew
10:1	17, 65	5:44	67
36:10	239	6:14	112
46:1	17, 65	7:11	106
73:23	241	8:13	112
115	204	22:37-39	67
136:1	289	22:39	163
		25:31-40	301
		28:10	359

28:18-20	358	1 Corinthians
28:20	360	13	148
		13:13	140, 239
Luke		15:28	269
24:13-36	157	16:14	167
24:50-52	358
		2 Corinthians
John		4:7	384
1:10f	353	5:17	147, 233
1:14	46	12:7	143
12:24	232
14:28	358	Galatians
15:10	358	4:4	92
16:7	358
		Colossians
Acts		1:15	354
1:8	221
2:4	221	James
2:17	221	1:17-22	90, 99ff, 335, 344
2:33	221
2:38	221	1 John
8:15	221	4	161
8:19f	221	4:16	114
		Revelation
Romans		1:8	269
8:28	174, 335	21:6	269
8:38f	13, 143	22:13	269
13:8	339

Index of Names

- Adriaanse, H.J. V, 264
Amir, Y. 247, 266
Anckaert, L.A. 318
Anselm of Canterbury (Anselmus Cantuariensis) 23
Anz, W. 22
Aquinas, Th. 152-153, 155
Aristotle 9, 37
Arndt, A. 29
Askani, H.-Chr. 284, 289
Augustine (Aurelius Augustinus) 27, 60, 243
Avineri, S. 260
- Bader, G. 317-318
Barth, K. 64, 247
Bauer, A.E. 194
Benyoëtz, E. VI, 387
Bergman, S.H. 14, 391
Bernet, R. 34, 279, 295-296, 324, 328
Bernstein, R.J. 298
Beyrich, T. 283, 286
Biemel, W. 33-34, 49, 280
Bienenstock, M. 206-207
Bieri, P. 180
Birkenstock, E. 14, 238
Birnbaum, D. 328
Blum, L. 302
Blumenberg, H. 24, 288
Brasser, M. 229, 234
Brough, J.B. 35, 278, 327, 328
Brumlik, M. 309
Buber, M. 14, 182, 252, 256, 269, 283, 385
Bühler, P. V, 5, 95, 345
Busch, K. 330
Butin, G.M. 283, 306
- Calvin, J. 153
Campi, E. 387
- Caputo, J.D. 361, 373
Casper, B. 182, 284, 290, 311
Cassirer, E. 380
Char, R. 352
Ciglia, F.P. 182
Claesges, U. 31, 33
Cohen, H. 266
Cohen, R.A. 283-284, 309
Come, A.B. 136, 142
Critchley, S. 282, 295-298
Crites, S. 81-82, 126
Crouter, R. 22, 105, 191, 317
- Dalferth, I.U. V, 10-11, 22, 39, 53, 60, 64, 66, 130, 156, 365, 379
Davies, P. 298, 387
Deely, J. 379
Derrida, J. 14-21, 98, 106, 238, 277, 289, 327-344, 350-351, 355, 361-366, 370-372, 378
Deuser, H. VII, 22, 82, 129, 155-156, 376-379
Diels, H. 8
Dilthey, W. 49
Disse, J. 136, 242-243
Dober, H.M. V, 182, 186, 243, 285
Domin, H. 4
Dudiak, J. 303
Düsing, K. 180
- Ebeling, G. 4, 59
Ehrenberg, H. 183, 185, 207, 213, 222, 265
Epicurus 1
Eriksen, N.N. 95, 147, 172
Evans, C.S. 169
- Fackenheim, E.L. 79, 259, 283, 314
Ferreira, M.J. 22, 160, 169, 283

- Fichte, J.G. 14, 71-73, 99, 109, 112, 259, 297
 Fischer, J. 167
 Foyle, A. 181
 Frandsen, H.V. 372
 Frankfurt, H.G. 158
 Fricke, M. 182
 Froman, W.J. 219
 Fuchs, Th. 4, 326
 Furtak, R.A. 151f, 155-158, 160-166, 246
- Galli, B.E. 182, 195, 201, 204, 213, 221, 227-228, 250, 254, 262, 264, 267, 274
 Gauß, J.C.F. 41
 Geyer, C.-F. 3
 Gibbs, R. 206, 256, 285, 318, 322-323
 Givsan, H. 219
 Glatzer, N.N. 197
 Glöckner, D. VII, 94
 Goethe, J.W. von 199, 201, 252, 378
 Goldner 182, 198, 396
 Gordon, P.E. 219
 Gouwens, D.J. 156
 Gräb-Schmidt, E. 22
 Grøn, A. V, 25-26, 93, 127-128, 134, 136, 138, 145, 155
 Groß, W./Kuschel, H.-J. 4
 Großhans, H.-P. VII, 29
 Grümmе, B. 269, 270, 273-275, 284-285, 289, 311
- Habib, S. 318
 Hagemann, T. VII, 95, 347
 Halevi, J. 231-233, 254, 274f, 299
 Halfwassen, J. 23
 Hallo, W.W. 182, 213, 229, 231, 262
 Hamm, B. 387
 Hannay, A. 151, 155-156
 Hare, J.E. 86, 155
 Hart, J.G. 40-42, 48-55, 71, 370
 Hauck, D. 318
 Hauschildt, F. 156
 Hegel, G.W.F. VI, 14, 21-25, 57, 70-82, 90, 99, 101-108, 112-114, 119, 125-143, 167, 176-185, 190, 197, 219-224, 230, 247-251, 257-270, 275, 277, 280, 284, 286, 316, 332, 371, 376-378
 Heiberg, J.L. 114, 127
- Heidegger, M. 7f, 14, 18, 31, 70, 137f, 219, 277-284, 319, 324, 327-331, 354, 360-362, 368-369, 376
 Held, K. 34-38, 53
 Heraclitus 7, 375
 Herms, E. VII, 152-153
 Hick, J. 3, 64f
 Hölderlin, J.C.F. 126, 133, 248
 Hong, E. / Hong, H.V. 90, 104, 123, 128, 158, 165, 170
 Horner, R. 327, 354, 370, 372
 Hortian, U. 263-264
 Hume, D. 1
 Husserl, E. 14, 16, 20-22, 30-76, 137f, 219, 277-284, 293, 295, 319, 324, 327-331, 351f, 353-355, 360-362, 366-377
- Idel, M. 185, 194, 214
- Jackson, M.J. 79
 Jacob, B. 203
 Jägerschmidt, A. 43, 44
 Janicaud, D. 351-353, 355, 361, 371, 378
 Janssen, H.-G. 3, 38
 Jonas, H. 3
 Jung, M. 321
- Kangas, D. 22, 99-112, 135, 317
 Kant, I. 14, 17, 21-24, 62, 70-73, 82-87, 133, 160, 172f, 176, 178, 180-183, 197, 224, 242f, 259, 264, 298, 305-306, 313, 316, 330, 352-355, 371, 376, 380
 Katz, S.T. 226
 Kearney, R. 282, 355, 361
 Kierkegaard, S. VIf, 13-25, 65-68, 71, 74, 77f, 80-82, 87, 89-278, 282-294, 297-306, 309, 311-317, 319f, 324, 326f, 329, 332-350, 352, 364-366, 368, 371-378, 382-384, 387, 389-398, 401-410
 Kilby, K. 4
 Kirmmse, B.H. 14, 156
 Kolderup-Rosenvinge, J.L.A. 272
 Korsch, D. 64
 Krewani, W. 311
- Lagerlöf, S. 254
 Laird, M. 373
 Landgrebe, L. 53
 Lawlor, L. 327
 Laycock, S.W. 40-44, 53-58, 63, 70-71

- Lee, N.-I. 138
 Leibniz, G.W. von 1, 42, 76, 84, 142, 176, 224, 352
 Levinas, E. VI, 4, 13-18, 21, 23, 26, 68, 71, 74, 77f, 87, 113, 139, 149, 160, 166, 182-183, 219, 243, 277f, 281-330, 339, 343, 364, 367, 376-378
 Levy, Z. 284
 Lincoln, U. 116, 125, 130, 154, 156, 346
 Lotz, T.A. 379-382
 Löwith, K. 269
 Luhmann, N. 40, 403
 Luther, M. 39, 82, 123f, 142, 153, 173f, 183, 378, 387

 Mackie, J.L. 2
 Malka, S. 284
 Mannousakis, J.P. 373
 Marion, J.-L. 14, 16f, 20f, 24, 277, 327, 351-374, 378
 Maurer, R.K. 110, 258, 275
 McTaggart, J.E. 63
 Meir, E. 185, 241, 249, 251
 Meister Eckhart 112
 Melanchthon, Ph. 153
 Mendelssohn, M. 242
 Mendes-Flohr, P. VI, 185, 222f, 265, 311
 Menke, K.-H. 3
 Mertin, J. 77, 85, 172
 Mooney, E.F. 172
 Moretto, G. 22
 Morrison, G. 284
 Mosès, S. 182, 222, 282f
 Moxter, M. VI, 380

 Narbonne, J.-M. 23
 Nemo, Ph. 299
 Nietzsche, F. 201
 Nordentoft, K. 345
 Nussbaum, M. 158

 Oelmüller, W. 3
 Olesen, M. VII, 90
 Oppenheim, G. ("Trudchen") 14, 191, 199, 263, 266, 283, 285, 292, 306, 347
 Oppenheim, M.D. 14, 283, 285, 292, 306, 347
 Overgaard, S. V, 31, 61, 282, 295, 297, 377
 Parmenides 138, 185
 Parnas, J. VI, 326, 377
 Pattison, G. VII, 95, 136-139
 Pausch, E.M. 281
 Peirce, Ch.S. 376, 379
 Phillips, D.S. 64f, 86, 170
 Plantinga, A. 3, 181
 Plato 23, 100, 112, 147, 258, 353, 355, 385
 Purkardthofer, R. V, 103

 Quinn, Ph.L. 3, 155

 Ricœur, P. 5, 71, 278
 Roberts, R.C. 151f, 157-167, 246
 Rocca, E. VI, 105, 371
 Rohde, P. 128
 Römpp, G. 295
 Rosenstock, E. ("Eugen") 189, 207, 217, 252f, 265
 Rosenstock-Huessy, M. ("Gritli") 197, 219, 241f, 247, 253-255, 263
 Rosenzweig, F. VI, 4, 13-22, 68, 71, 77f, 80, 82, 87, 89, 113, 126, 182-275, 277, 282-294, 296-324, 327, 332-337, 341-343, 347-350, 352, 364-366, 368, 371-378, 381f, 384, 387
 Rosenzweig-Scheinmann, E. ("Edith") 253
 Rühle, I. 182, 201, 232, 241, 254
 Russell, F.C. 379

 Schelling, F.W.J. 14, 72-73, 185, 206-207, 211, 248, 259, 264, 269, 322
 Schiller, F. von 77, 248, 254, 259
 Schindler, R. 182
 Schleiermacher, F. 21f, 27-30, 36-37, 47, 52, 54, 59f, 71, 98, 105, 153, 183, 191f, 317
 Schmied-Kowarzik, W. 207, 274
 Schulz, H. VII, 118, 177
 Schwartz, M. 182, 186
 Shakespeare, W. 132
 Sibbern, S.C. 143
 Smith, J.K.A. 282f, 361-364
 Sneller, R. 372
 Solomon, R.S. 161, 165
 Søltoft, P. VII, 14, 134
 Spann, K. 318
 Spinoza, B. 74
 Stewart, J. VI, 79, 90, 126-128, 138, 142
 Sturzebecher, J.-J. 318
 Susman, M. 199

- Tauler, J. 100
Taylor, M.C. 126, 133-136
Tewes, J. 304
Theunissen, M. 74f, 92, 180
Thulstrup, J. 126, 389
Tornøe, C.W. 22, 191
Tugendhat, E. 281
Turner, J. 227
- Van den Bossche, S. 369
Vogel, A.A. 356
Vroom, H.M. VII, 313
- Wagner, H. 3
Waldenfels, B. 278, 296, 367, 382
Weil, S. 66, 68, 196, 254
Welten, R. 362
- Welz, C. VIII, 151, 285, 297, 313, 315, 330, 378
Wendel, S. 69
Wendte, M. 74
Westphal, M. 74, 283, 292, 306, 372
Wiehl, R. 223f, 266
Williams, R.R. 23, 71
Wittgenstein, L. 38
Wivel, K. 14
Wohlmuth, J. 362
Wolfson, E.R. 202, 226, 265, 270, 385
Wood, D. 283, 327
- Zahavi, D. VI, 31, 33f, 37, 41, 47, 278, 295, 377
Zwingli, H. 387

Index of Subjects

- Absence: and time-consciousness, 279, 281, 328f; as a mode of God's presence, 65-69, 380; as abandonment, 69, 291, 381; divine/of God, 15, 54-57, 64, 89, 91f, 94f, 98, 119, 121f, 140, 148, 179, 184, 193, 195f, 216, 271, 277, 285-292, 297, 321, 325, 381; human absence of mind, 69; of human love, 68, 196; of the creator as agent-among-agents, 65-67
- Action, activity, agency, agent: divine, 7, 25, 53, 65-67, 93, 110, 112f, 116, 189, 124, 135f, 138, 154, 188, 191, 225, 261f, 240, 245, 266, 294, 321, 339, 382; human, 3, 6f, 9f, 17, 29, 53, 55, 66, 79, 82-85, 89f, 111, 114, 116f, 121-124, 129, 132, 135, 138, 140, 142, 146, 151-157, 160, 162f, 167, 183f, 197, 209, 212-215, 218, 227, 233, 238, 243, 245, 249, 256, 258, 262, 266, 273, 293, 294, 296f, 299, 301f, 304, 310-317, 326, 336-338, 340, 344, 346, 349, 359f, 364-367, 368, 377, 381f, 384, 387
- Affection: 159, 245, 296, 340
- Affective: 160, 312, 387
- Affectivity: 312, 367
- Affliction: 68
- Agape: 162
- Allegory, allegorical, Gleichnis//Vergleich: 85, 200-206
- Alterity: 26, 40, 76, 109, 115, 132, 223, 281, 284, 286, 288, 293-296, 300, 307, 310-311, 315-316, 321, 325, 329, 367
- Ambiguity, ambiguous: of God's transcendence, 6, 15-17, 22ff, 63f, 69f, 83, 97, 111, 114, 140, 148, 161, 179, 297, 309, 325, 336f, 369, 374f; of human existence, 96, 145; of 'metaphysics,' 47; of phenomena, 7f, 64, 106, 119, 130, 137f, 165, 224, 334-336, 375f, 383, 386; of science, 360, 379, 341; of the face, 315
- Anachronistic: 126, 378
- Anthropomorphism: 202
- Anthropomorphous: 61, 194, 201, 325
- Anticipation: 204, 210, 227, 235, 238-240, 265-266, 288, 301, 331, 334, 349
- Anxiety: 92f, 121, 127, 143, 155, 180; and anguish, 92, 287, 299; demonic anxiety of the good, 92
- Apophatic: theology, 99-108, 383; vs. kataphatic, 99, 105, 383
- Appearance(s): 5, 8, 31-34, 36, 38, 60, 70, 118, 198, 212, 279f, 295f, 326, 336, 375, 383; ambiguity of appearances, 8, 64, 119, 135, 336f, 351f, 360, 384; divine, 40, 63, 117, 198, 200, 225, 370, 373, 378, 381, 383; ephemeral in appearance, 200-206; of disappearance, 380; 'Save the appearances!' 7; within or despite, 33-37, 119, 213, 224f, 332-337
- Appropriation: 73, 95, 324, 350
- Asymmetrical: 301, 322
- Asymmetry: 116, 134, 149, 196, 240, 301, 314, 322, 331, 341
- Atonement: 181
- Auschwitz: 2f, 271, 275, 298, 310, 314, 400
- Belief: 1, 4f, 12f, 15, 27, 60, 68, 85, 101, 124, 125, 132, 149f, 157, 184, 186, 204, 206, 213, 256, 265, 297, 304f, 309f, 319, 324-326, 382f, 386
- Believer: 97, 120, 141, 144, 177, 187, 335
- Biblical: 8, 15, 46f, 67, 84-86, 90, 112, 114, 139, 168, 173, 193f, 202f, 217, 221-223, 242, 247, 256, 269, 289, 290, 309, 315, 320, 370
- Body: 9, 33, 42, 68, 79, 93, 135, 226, 239,

- 242, 252, 295, 357, 372; embodied, 93, 137, 202, 226, 233, 306, 322, 377
- Christ: as God-man, 101, 210, 333; as God's son, 75, 92, 220, 358; as mediator, 196, 304; as paradox, 90, 100, 141, 147, 230, 333, 353; as 'saturated phenomenon,' 251-257, 353, 355, 357-360; giving the present of his presence, 357, 360; co-presence/contemporaneity with, 140-144, 231, 233, 293, 320, 324, 333; God's presence/self-manifestation in, 369; Jesus, 3, 46, 69, 112, 120, 221, 232, 233, 286, 333, 357, 359f, 368, 372; Christology, Christological, 13, 29, 90, 93, 99f, 121, 147, 180, 211, 229, 286, 357, 383; Messiah, 232, 236, 363; Passion of, 229, 231; resurrected, resurrection of, 221, 232, 357, 358; Revelation of, 90, 100, 286, 357; 's (continued) presence, 105, 229, 236, 349, 358, 360; 's fleshly body, 357, 372; 's gesture: blessing, 357; 's suffering for us, 81, 118, 256; 's withdrawal, 358; the two 'natures' of, 180
- Christian(s): becoming, 139; disposition, 154; eschatology, 237; life, 139, 167, 349; love, 162-166, 170-172, 239; phenomenology, 138f; non-Christians, 13, 139, 161; the (essentially) Christian, 170f; the ideal Christian state, 260
- Christianity: 21, 79, 90, 113, 117, 119f, 122, 126, 141, 143, 155, 159, 163, 166, 168f, 170f, 176, 205, 220, 222, 225, 227-229, 231-233, 254, 258, 260, 266, 303, 349, 389, 398
- Climacus: 90, 389
- Command: 153, 160, 164, 235, 243, 247, 294f, 298, 301, 303, 305, 308f, 314f, 325
- Commandment (of love): 67, 149, 242, 249
- Communication: 19, 30, 40, 42, 90, 95, 100, 106, 111, 136, 154f, 193, 200, 215, 220, 222, 234, 251, 310, 342, 344-347, 349-351, 368f, 383; as word and response, 323; donation as, 343-351; indirect, non-persuasive, 19, 90, 95, 136, 345, 347, 383; of the gift, 344f; self-communication of love, 30, 111, 136; self-communication of the absolute, 100, 106
- Compassion: 3, 160, 168, 299, 312, 314, 325, 345
- Compassionate: 160, 175, 196, 245, 312
- Concealed, concealedness: of God, 121, 187, 189, 209, 215, 315, 335; of phenomena, 101, 137f; $\phi\upsilon\sigma\iota\varsigma$ $\kappa\rho\upsilon\pi\tau\epsilon\sigma\theta\alpha\iota$ $\phi\iota\lambda\epsilon\iota$, 7, 375
- Concern: 58, 98, 113, 128, 151, 157f, 160, 169, 195, 215, 229, 272, 278, 287, 293, 301, 314, 316, 324, 340, 346, 349, 378
- Conscience: 68, 82, 85, 113f, 138, 171f, 292
- Conscious: 9, 20f, 29, 30f, 35, 37, 39, 44, 46, 55, 56, 61, 62, 73, 75, 77, 93f, 98, 102, 120, 136, 152, 153, 157, 164, 167, 171, 180, 195, 209, 215, 222f, 233, 278, 281, 288, 293f, 298, 303, 307, 312, 319, 320-322, 324f, 363, 367
- Consciousness: 'All-consciousness,' 41-43, 56; anonymous, 35, 49, 51, 54; as flow, 34f, 38-50, 281, 328; capacities of, 20; human//divine, 42, 44f, 47, 56f, 71f, 74f, 222, 297, 321f, 370, 383; individual//collective, 42, 129, 167; intentional, 31-45; loses its first place, 321; of guilt, of sin, 92, 181; passivity of, 288; presentational, 295; self-consciousness, 28-30, 36, 72-75, 79, 108, 129, 136, 138, 153, 184, 317, 377; Subject/Object of, 54, 71-74; time-consciousness, 30-36, 38f, 279, 293f, 328f, 333; unhappy, self-divided, 82, 141
- Constitution: 20, 31, 33, 35-38, 40, 42, 44-46, 49, 53, 55, 152f, 179, 295f, 303, 355, 357, 360, 362, 364, 366f, 370, 373; and affectivity, 367; as intersubjectively mediated process, 37-40; as synthesization, 33, 295; of intentional objects, 31f
- Contemporaneity, contemporary: with Christ, 82, 141, 229, 231; with God's eternal presence, 140-144, 215, 293, 320, 324; with every age, 150; with oneself, 140f
- Contingency: 49, 51, 104, 224, 274, 377
- Contingent: 32, 50f, 63, 66, 96, 137, 240, 359
- Creation: 4, 6, 42, 65f, 74, 85, 89, 101, 121, 186f, 190, 192, 197, 204, 206-210, 212f, 215, 218, 222f, 234, 237, 247, 250, 267, 273, 304, 308, 316, 320, 322, 345, 349; creatio continua, 68, 209, 237; creatio ex

- nihilo*, 209, 262; 'fall' and 'corruption' of, 273; primeval, the past of, 209, 254; the present of, 208; vs. emanation, 101, 197
- Creator: 1, 5, 45, 65, 66, 83, 84, 135, 187, 190, 197, 205, 209f, 214f, 217, 225, 234, 240, 244, 274, 339, 381
- Creature(s): 84, 138, 152, 205, 208, 214, 233, 244, 255, 274, 316
- Cross: 13, 78, 81f, 174, 229-233, 275, 349; of the present, 78-82, 174, 230, 275; of Golgotha, 81, 231, 236
- Dark: 17, 103, 174f, 186, 188, 213, 271, 273, 313, 364, 384-386
- Darkness: 68, 195, 199, 213, 268, 273, 371, 385, 386
- Death: 13-15, 48, 82, 90, 131, 190, 204f, 229, 232f, 236-239, 241f, 253-255, 267-269, 274, 287, 299, 302-304, 357, 370
- Debt: 115, 159, 284, 305, 309, 331, 338-340, 342, 363
- Indebtedness: 340-342
- Desire: 133, 163f, 242, 287, 301, 310, 356
- Despair: 59, 80, 137f, 147f, 163-165, 173, 180, 253f, 263, 274
- Despondency: 121, 271
- Devil: 118f, 141, 255
- Diachrony: 293, 296, 302, 319, 322-325
- Dialectic(s): 26, 64, 97, 127, 140, 178, 254, 265, 267, 330, 345, 374; dialectical interrelation or contrast, 123f; dialectical mediation of transcendence with immanence, 74f; divine love as dialectical process including negativity, 131f, 222f; Kant's transcendental, 330; of the limit, 24-26; of God's givenness and hiddenness, 64-70, 374; Schleiermacher's Dialektik, 27-30
- Dialogical: 154, 193, 222, 322f, 348
- Dialogue: 16-18, 45, 85, 95, 126, 193-195, 205f, 215, 224, 256, 277, 284, 288-290, 322f, 349, 361, 364, 369, 383
- Différance*: as difference, distinction/ as deferral, delay, 98, 328, 350
- Discourse: 12, 91f, 95f, 102-104, 107, 111, 117, 119f, 123, 140f, 143, 145, 147, 158f, 172-174, 177, 189, 193, 196, 344f, 373, 387
- Dissemination: 329, 332, 344, 350
- Distance, distant: 11, 15, 17, 21, 25, 33, 39, 63-65, 68f, 89, 91, 97f, 119, 121f, 137, 140, 179, 184, 188, 193, 216f, 224, 230, 237, 250, 270f, 274, 285-288, 291, 309, 321, 325, 327f, 358, 362, 375, 380f; spatially and temporally, 64, 91, 381; epistemic(ally), 64f; God's, 15, 17, 21, 64f, 68f, 89, 91, 97f, 119, 121f, 140f, 179, 184, 188, 193, 216f, 224, 270f, 274, 284-288, 291, 309, 328, 358, 375, 380; spiritual(ly), 65
- Divine: absence, 54f, 271; activity, 53, 66, 154f, 240, 286; dipolarity, 51-54, 56, 76; distance, 64, 288; divine-human cooperation, 273; love, 19, 108-112, 116, 121, 129-135, 155, 167, 180, 196, 201, 203, 205, 222f, 234, 240, 243, 245, 247, 249, 277, 303, 308, 310, 343; presence, 54-57, 63, 68f, 119, 121, 291, 293, 304, 358-360, 380; providence, guidance or governance: Styreelse, 76, 96, 117, 177f, 208, 255, 263, 270, 275, 316; transcendence, 16f, 21-87, 124f, 137, 139, 147, 149, 216, 218, 283, 293f, 298, 306, 326, 375, 381
- Divinity: 50, 64, 74, 101, 161, 225, 264, 286, 369
- Doubt: 15, 21, 67, 100, 107, 111, 138, 149, 156, 168, 174, 227, 257, 270, 275, 306, 329, 335, 340, 375
- Duty: 133f, 150, 153, 156, 160f, 163-165, 167, 257, 305, 325, 331, 340, 342, 363
- Economy: 19, 314, 331, 339, 341, 343, 363, 366; as communication, 343; as counterbalance of good and evil, 314; 'give economy its chance,' 331; oeconomia salutis, 341; vs. gift, 19, 313, 343-351, 363, 366
- Edification: 101, 104, 121, 136
- Edifying: 90, 102, 104, 136, 179, 345
- Emanation: 101, 197
- Emmaus: 357, 368, 371
- Emotion: 15, 89, 95, 151f, 157, 158-163, 165-168, 229, 245f, 300, 312
- Empathy: 160, 246, 295, 345

- Enigma: 38, 286, 316
- Entelechy: 43f, 51, 53-55, 57, 75
- Epistemological: 2, 5, 7, 16, 18, 21, 25, 83, 87, 89, 125, 131, 184, 188, 223, 270, 294, 315, 321, 337, 353, 368, 386
- Epistemology: 14, 377
- Eros, Erotic: 21, 131, 133-135, 153, 155, 158, 162, 165, 168-171, 201, 204-206, 245, 248f, 251, 305, 310, 312, 354
- Eschatological: 4, 238, 266, 273, 360, 381; proviso, 273; redemption, 273; God's eschatological apologia, 4
- Eschatology: 237, 263, 267, 269, 292, 302, 304, 316; Christian, 237; critique of, 292; inner-worldly, 263; messianic, 304; without hope for oneself, 302
- Essence: 32, 48, 50, 79, 101, 108f, 185-191, 194, 198, 201, 217f, 224, 232, 244, 268, 270, 286, 289, 321, 340, 356, 361, 371; God's, 185, 187f, 194, 218, 272, 286
- Essentialism: 189
- Essentialist: 186, 217
- Eternal: 15, 28, 74, 76, 78, 80, 85, 92-95, 98, 107, 109-111, 116, 120f, 129, 132, 135, 140f, 143-152, 155f, 164, 166, 169f, 174, 178-181, 187, 190f, 201, 203-205, 207, 211, 215, 223, 225-229, 231-233, 235-239, 241f, 244, 247, 251, 260, 266-268, 272, 277f, 287f, 291, 297f, 302-304, 319, 324, 333-335, 339, 353, 384; eternalizing power of love, 302; life, 227, 238, 242, 244; Logos, 353; love, 15, 109-111, 120, 132, 135, 145f, 149, 156, 166, 169, 191, 203-205, 236, 241, 247-251, 277, 291, 297f, 325, 384; people, 227, 229, 264, 304; presence, 78, 140-144, 148, 180, 187, 227, 258, 319, 327; redoubling, 339; the eternal vs. the temporal, 109f, 146-148, 179, 235, 238, 265
- Eternity: 18, 75, 78, 86, 90, 93, 109, 113, 117, 120, 132, 146-150, 164, 177, 180f, 198, 203-207, 210-212, 226-232, 237-242, 258, 264-269, 278, 287, 294, 297, 302-304, 333f, 340; as depth-dimension of time, 146, 180, 200, 268; as future//a very long time, 237, 266; as messianic time, 302; as potentiality//endlessness, 265; as renewal of the moment, 236-238; bond of eternity: Evighedens Baand, 109; beyond time, 238, 269, 304; chain of, 340; God's eternity precedes, transcends and contains time, 120, 206, 212, 304; in time, 144-146, 180, 227, 238, 266, 294; multitemporal, 78; of the Christian peoples, 228f; of the Jewish people, 226-228, 256; poetical, 203; Sprungbrett zur Ewigkeit, 266; sub specie aeternitatis, 146; temporalized, 203, 210-212; timeless, 78, 147, 203, 210-212, 269, 304; within the moment, 204
- Ethical: 9, 13f, 16, 18, 43, 49, 53, 55, 60, 74, 84, 87, 90, 92, 112, 115, 121, 125, 130, 133f, 136, 138, 145, 148-150, 155f, 163, 174, 179, 183, 196, 223, 248f, 259, 264, 268, 271, 290, 292, 298, 300-302, 306-308, 311, 314f, 319, 321, 326, 330, 337, 345, 368, 376; action, 90, 138, 249, 311, 337; theory, 90, 138
- Ethics: 9, 17f, 26, 60, 89f, 130f, 137f, 149-151, 153, 155f, 186, 236, 240, 242f, 296, 298, 300, 305f, 308-311, 313, 316, 326, 376f; agapeistic, 17f, 89, 149f, 236, 300, 304f, 309, 376; deontological, 156; in Hegel's system, 90; in Works of Love: 'second ethics,' 90, 151-157; Nicomachean Ethics, 9; of vision, 145; virtue ethics, 151-157
- Eucharist(ic): 215, 235, 259, 359, 357, 359, 372
- Evil: 1-11, 13, 15-17, 19, 21, 59, 67-69, 76f, 81-89, 92, 96, 106, 118f, 132, 137, 141f, 145f, 151, 174, 176, 178-181, 184, 213, 236, 252, 261, 263, 271f, 274, 286, 291, 298-302, 312-317, 325f, 334, 336, 346, 350, 376, 380, 383, 385-387; ambivalence of, 86; and the lack of love, 67f, 89, 195, 376, 384; as infidelitas, sin or unbelief, 2; as malum (meta)physicum, 2; as malefactum or malum morale, 2, 292; as nihil or prope nihil, 2; as privatio boni, 2, 385; destructive, harmful to life, 5; experience(s) of, 15f, 21, 76, 178, 184, 300; hidden, 6; horror/monstrosity of, 299f; intelligibility and necessity of, 3; leading to the discovery of the good, 300; limited role of, 81; prevention of, 146; proliferation of, 146; refusal/refutation of, 387; relativize, 144, 181, 274; repay evil with good, 346; to protest against,

- struggle against, resist, 96, 181, 314, 325; transcendence of, 299; transformed into good/(mis)interpreted as a good, 4, 180, 325; whence then is evil?, 1, 6
- Evil-doer: 86, 263
- Existence: 1, 5f, 9, 14, 17, 24f, 29, 31, 37,
43, 47-50, 55, 63, 66, 69, 71, 73, 79f, 90f,
96-99, 106f, 109f, 115, 118, 121, 129,
137, 143, 147, 149, 152f, 169, 187, 191,
194, 208-211, 217, 226f, 230, 232, 240,
250, 265f, 268, 275, 288, 297, 334, 356,
364, 376f, 382; and being, 110; human,
5, 17, 24f, 37, 96, 98, 129, 137, 268, 275, 288, 364, 376f; incompleteness and openness of, 97, 224, 377; individual, determinate, 109; inexplicable all of, 91;
multidimensionality of, 224, 378; of God,
99, 187, 356; spheres of, 90; temporality of, 98; uniqueness of, 224
- Existential: 9, 12, 53, 90, 112, 118, 129, 137, 180, 281, 324
- Existentialist: 14
- Experience: 1, 6f, 15-20, 30-38, 42, 44,
46-49, 53, 56-61, 63, 65f, 68-73, 76, 84,
86, 94, 96f, 101, 105, 108, 114, 120f,
124, 137-142, 154, 156, 166, 173, 175,
179, 186-195, 199, 202-210, 213-216,
223f, 227, 231, 239-241, 255f, 264f,
269-273, 283, 285f, 289, 293, 295-297,
300, 303f, 309-312, 317, 320-322, 327,
332, 335f, 347, 349, 352f, 359, 365, 367,
369-371, 373, 375-378, 381-383, 387; conditions of, 352, 377; confidence in,
223, 255; erleben, erfahren, 22, 34, 287,
321; experiential/experimentum, 387; given in/eluding, 16, 57f, 70, 382; of God's absence, distance or hiddenness, 91-117, 121, 184-197, 286-293, 381; of God's presence, 58-61, 120, 304; moral, 322; religious, 49, 58, 60, 72, 321f; re-orientation of, 58-60; sense-experience,
68; vs. Widerfahrnis, 367
- Experiential: 7, 16, 32, 100, 188, 202, 209, 377
- Exteriority: 42, 76, 101, 106, 111, 116, 287
- Exteriorization: 74, 76, 108, 132, 270;
Entäußerung, 74, 76, 108, 132, 272; selfexternalization: Sich-äußern, 187; status
exinanitionis, 75
- External, the external, det Udvortes: 36f, 47,
73f, 91, 94, 102, 104, 119, 124, 135, 143,
153, 157, 159, 166, 171, 187, 198, 204,
226, 272, 287, 335, 379
- Face: 38, 47, 59, 61, 114, 187, 193, 208,
224f, 230, 241, 251f, 270, 275, 286, 291f,
295f, 298, 306, 308-311, 314f, 322, 355,
361, 367, 381, 409
- Factuality: 139, 149, 321; Tatsächlichkeit of God, man, world, 186, 189, 218, 223, 250, 267
- Faith: 1, 13, 23, 44, 59, 61, 73f, 82, 85, 90,
92-95, 98, 101, 105f, 120f, 124, 130,
134, 140-144, 149-153, 159, 166, 168,
174-179, 181, 191-193, 212-215, 221,
224f, 233-244, 253, 265f, 268, 270-277,
286f, 307, 316, 320, 325, 335, 340, 356,
364, 368, 371f, 376, 384, 387; believing that love without reward is valuable, 316;
as fiducia, trusting, 387; as power of perseverance, 233-236, 271, 274; as required love, 240f, 342; as resting transparently in God, 94; confession of, 213f; faithful expectancy, 144, 235, 238; in things we do not see, 378; of the individual, 191;
sola fide, 340; 'the eyes of faith,' 105f, 224, 270, 371f; that adversity is prosperity, 144; transcendence of, 140-144, 233-236
- Feasts, holidays: 215, 226f, 236, 266, 322;
Jewish: Succot, etc., 215, 236; Christian:
Easter, Christmas, etc., 232, 236, 349
- Feeling: 5, 28-30, 36, 46, 68, 80, 82, 92, 97, 133, 139, 157, 160-167, 195, 236, 242,
245f, 274, 292, 310, 340, 387
- Finitude, finite: 18, 28f, 41, 45, 73-77,
107, 114, 116, 118, 125, 129, 131-134,
150, 153, 180, 184, 213, 249, 250, 269,
286-288, 299, 301-304, 306, 310, 316,
318, 339f, 352, 383; finite and infinite,
107, 112, 279, 287, 310; finitum capax infiniti, 93; finite nature of human existence, 147, 268; finite reality, 260, 269
- Forgiveness: 21, 124, 134, 146, 147, 155, 196
- Free: 3, 6, 42, 49, 65, 93, 118, 165, 167, 193,
212f, 217, 223, 243, 247, 253, 256, 262,
273, 284, 300, 315f, 331, 341, 353, 374,
380; choice, will, 3, 316; offering, 247; to

- unburden one's heart, 315; to love, 316; Free Will Defense, 3, 180, 273
- Freedom: 2, 7, 21, 29, 42, 49, 51, 66, 77-79, 83-85, 92, 153, 179, 213f, 240, 243, 252, 254f, 259-262, 266, 270, 273, 275, 285, 294, 296, 306, 311, 316, 336, 341f, 377, 381; concord of freedom with nature, 316; finite, 77, 153; for the action of love, 266; human, 2, 66, 83, 179, 213, 243, 270, 273, 341, 381; misuse of, 85; presupposition beyond, 242f, 306, 342; of prayer, 255
- Future: 17, 34, 39, 63, 82, 86, 92, 121, 140-144, 146-148, 173, 180, 193, 195, 204, 207-212, 215, 222, 228, 232, 235-240, 255, 265-267, 271, 275, 278f, 292, 302-304, 308, 319f, 323, 349f, 353, 381f, 384; anticipated, 207, 237, 265f; det Tilkommende, 146; futuration of the finite future, 302-304; meaning of the, 302; of the past, 146-149, 384
- Galut: 226
- Gestalt: 250, 366
- Gift: 15, 17-20, 51, 63, 90f, 99-108, 124, 127, 136, 144f, 160f, 172-175, 181, 193, 221, 233, 238, 240, 254f, 271f, 277, 298, 303, 305, 327-351, 356-371, 374, 378, 381-384; annulled, 331; as a non-present, 330f, 333f; as if it were the recipient's property, 345; as ontological excess, 100; being given and becoming gifted, 364-366; Derrida's aporia of the gift, 18, 20, 329, 332; divine and human love as a possible gift, 16, 18f, 20; donation, donor, donee, 305, 331, 338, 343-352, 355, 361, 363, 369; donner ce qu'on n'a pas, 18; economy of the, 345-351; everything can become a good gift, 335; ex opera operato quality of the gift, 363; from God/from above, 124, 173, 181, 271, 334; Gabe, Geschenk, 349; given pro nobis, 340; giver and recipient as 'more insignificant than the gift,' 338; giving and receiving, 19, 115, 340f, 343, 368; God gives through us, 338; gracious, gratuitous, given for free, for nothing, 19, 193, 331, 333, 341, 343, 347; (im) possible, 15f, 18f, 20, 378; impossible, 19, 327-351, 360; le don dans la donation or le don sans la donation, 363; le don se donne raison en se donnant, 369; logic of, 106-108; loss as, 336; Marion's donatology, 20, 368f; modus recipiendi, 148; of eternity, 238; of God's presence, 17, 20, 277, 332, 334, 336, 343, 347, 349-351, 357-361, 364f, 366, 368, 374, 378, 381, 384; of joy and sorrow, 105, 178, 383; performance of the, 347, 358; phenomenon/phenomenalization of the, 106, 337, 365f, 378; problem of, 91, 327, 332-351; pure gift, 104, 106, 330, 332, 339, 342, 363; reception of/receiving/recipient of the gift, 19f, 66, 99, 111, 118, 173, 240, 331, 333-338, 341-343, 345f, 359f, 363-366, 368-370, 383; recognition of the gift as gift, 331; re-presented, representation of the gift, 343; return-gift, 341; self-giving, 17, 20, 99-101, 120, 136, 225, 295, 305, 333, 335, 337f; transcendental gift of time//ethical time of giving, 330, 337; Villanova discussion on the, 356; vs. duty/debt, 329-332; vs. economy/exchange/restitution, aneconomic, 331, 341; vs. the principle do ut des, 322
- Givenness: 7, 17, 19f, 31-38, 41, 51, 58, 63, 64, 71, 99, 101, 107, 130, 136, 140, 188, 200, 277, 280, 317, 328, 330, 333f, 337, 343, 351, 358-366, 369-371, 374, 377, 381f; communal, 41; experiential, 32, 100, 188; Gegebenheit, 49, 362f; God's (non)givenness as self-giving gift, 20, 63, 99-101; intuitional 32; selbstgebende Anschauung, 32, 331; mode of, 31; of phenomena//the gift, 361, 363, 369; of the gift of God's presence, 334, 360, 365, 382; of the present now, 328; self-givenness, 31-37, 328, 280; time as non-phenomenal pre-givenness, 19, 330, 33; without a giver 374
- God: as the absolute, 26f, 40, 44-46, 49, 52f, 71-76, 81, 99-109, 111, 114, 116, 125, 129, 130-132, 135f, 141, 184f, 197f, 199, 220, 222f, 249f, 260, 263, 268, 270, 275, 280, 286, 297f, 300, 317, 353, 355, 377, 384; as actor or spectator, 95; as all-in-all//the One and the All/the One in and above All, 190, 220, 249, 269; as 'Alpha

- and Omega,' 269; 's attributes, 187, 315; as autre qu'autrui, 307; 'before God': coram deo, 18, 60, 65, 82, 85, 95, 113, 135, 139, 143, 164, 169, 174, 177, 181, 196, 205, 209, 247, 272, 313, 324, 337, 367, 377, 382-384, 386; 's being, 29, 67, 179, 185, 198, 210, 213, 304, 355; 's changelessness, 97; 's countenance, 195, 209; as creator, 1, 5, 45, 65-67, 83f, 120, 135, 149, 178, 187, 189f, 197, 205, 209f, 214f, 217, 225, 231, 234, 240, 244, 274, 339, 381; as deus absconditus, 28; as deus ex machina, 116; as deus iustificans vel salvator, 173; 's Eigenexistenz, 185; as enigma, 286, 316; 's epiphany, 286, 290, 300, 307, 325, 373; 's eschatological self-defense, 4; 's essence, 185, 187-189, 194, 218, 270, 286; 's eternity, 120, 150, 206, 212, 304; experience of, 15, 44, 56-61, 65, 68, 94, 120f, 191f, 193, 206, 304, 373, 378, 381f; as giver of everything, 105, 337; God-relationship, 14, 92, 96, 113f, 119, 135, 137, 139f, 145, 150, 161f, 169, 176f, 205f, 223, 245, 271, 288, 292, 301, 306, 309, 322, 338, 340, 343, 346, 367, 382; 's goodness, 2, 4, 5, 7, 85, 118, 124, 172, 178, 273, 300, 315, 376, 386; Gottesfinsternis, 385f; 's grace, 97, 155, 179, 242f; as heavenly Father, 103, 106; 's hiddenness, 184-197, 270, 292; idea of, 3, 8, 26-29, 37, 45, 52, 54, 56, 58, 76, 83, 86, 100f, 172, 178, 180, 213, 258, 260, 272, 287, 293, 304, 308, 315f; as 'ideal pole-idea,' 52, 55; 's Illeity, 288-291, 299, 315; 's incognito, 105, 286, 315, 384; 's invisibility, 356, 382f; as judge, 83, 263; 's justice, 4, 83f, 387; as life//light, 268; like a poet, 142; 's love, 13, 15-19, 66, 69, 102, 108, 114, 116, 119-121, 124, 128, 130-131, 136, 144f, 149, 155, 157, 161f, 167, 171, 174, 177-180, 188-197, 200-206, 214, 219-225, 234, 237, 240-247, 265, 267, 270-273, 277, 291, 297, 302-312, 315, 333-336, 341-343, 347-349, 365, 368, 377, 384; as love in everything, 174f, 188; as 'middle term' [Mellembestem-melse], 114f, 134, 136, 149, 154, 167, 180, 205, 306, 346; mythical-metaphysical God of the Greeks, 187, 193; non-theistic, 290; 's nearness, 65, 97, 117, 216, 234; 's (non)phenomenality, 5, 8, 90, 136, 271, 364, 370, 374f, 384-387; 's non-intervention, 3, 143; 's omnipresence, 30, 98, 117, 120, 122, 270, 333; 's omnipotence/power, 2, 118, 188, 315; 's omniscience, 1, 217; 's oneness, 251, 270; the only One, 108, 150, 190, 384; as poet of possibilities, 382; 's presence, 17f, 20, 22, 30, 36, 55, 59, 60-65, 68-94, 98, 117-122, 135, 148, 179, 195, 197, 212, 215, 218, 221, 235, 277, 287, 292, 304, 321, 324-327, 332-336, 343, 347, 349-351, 357-360, 364-368, 370, 374, 376, 378-384; 's presence in Trinitarian differentiations, 120f, 333; 's presence in relation to human action, 121-123, 212-215; 's providence, 76, 96, 178, 208, 255, 275; quoad sel/quoad nos, 45; as redeemer, 120, 187, 189, 210f, 218, 225, 236, 256, 262, 274, 381; as revealer, 120, 187, 189, 209, 210, 225, 231, 274, 334; search for, 194, 286f; 's secret plan, 275; 's self-abdication of power, 179; 's self-contraction, 213; self-restriction, 180, 273, 315; 's self-donation/-communication, 30, 369; 's self-knowledge, 43; 's self-realization, 43, 275; 's temporal relations to his creatures, 206-212; 's timelessness, 28, 206-212, 294; 's trace, 288-291, 309f, 315, 324, 382; 's transcendence, 8, 15-17, 20-23, 26f, 45-47, 53, 59, 63, 69f, 76, 83, 90, 98, 123, 139, 140, 148f, 179, 216, 271, 286f, 290, 293f, 297f, 300, 305, 324f, 370, 375, 379, 381; triune, 220, 289; 's uniqueness, 381; unknown, 91, 186, 201, 287, 356; vision of, 300, 364, 370-374, 382; 's will, 77, 84, 143, 243, 261; 's wisdom, 83f; 's withdrawal, 302-304
- Golgotha: 81, 231, 236
- Good: 1-7, 16, 19, 43f, 51, 53, 59, 69, 77, 79, 82, 85-87, 91f, 94, 96, 99, 100-106, 118f, 123-125, 132, 135, 137, 139, 142, 144-146, 151, 153f, 160, 162, 164, 170f, 173-176, 178-181, 183, 191, 196, 213, 234, 236, 239, 250-252, 255, 261-263, 268, 271-274, 286, 289, 291-294, 297, 299-301, 305, 310, 312-314, 325, 334-338, 342, 345f, 350, 353, 356, 376,

- 383, 385f; absolute, 99, 100-106; and evil, 5-13, 19, 82, 86, 132, 142, 176, 213, 252, 261, 272, 299f, 314, 334, 350, 376, 383, 385; be/become good, 261f, 335; beyond being, 284, 286, 294, 299f, 310, 325; bonum consummatum, 181; breakthrough of the, 298-300; do the good, 85, 301, 310; doubtful, 106; helpful to life, 5; metaphorical articulation of the, 101-106; material goods, 345; participation in the, 100; see the good, 106, 145, 386; self-communication of the good, 100; 'the highest Good', 83f, 92; willing the good, 87, 145, 178, 261
- Gratitude: 66, 96, 255, 314, 335, 340f
- Guilt: 87, 122, 174, 177, 196, 248, 252, 257, 292
- Happiness, happy, unhappy: 10, 77, 82f, 85f, 118f, 141, 143, 150, 153, 160, 173f, 178, 181, 230f, 244, 268, 272f, 316, 376; correspondence between virtue and happiness, 178; earthly happiness, 153; eternal happiness, 174, 181, 272; Happy End, 85f, 267f, 273, 314; right to be happy, 77, 178; "The Unhappiest One", 94, 140; unhappy consciousness, 82, 141; unhappy marriage 143
- Hermeneutical: 5, 7, 11, 16, 61, 127, 138, 225, 251, 275, 285, 344, 362, 370, 384
- Hidden: 6, 14f, 21, 37, 48, 63, 69f, 79, 89, 93, 98f, 103, 106, 108f, 111, 114f, 118, 130, 144, 146, 148, 154, 158f, 162, 177, 179, 184, 186-190, 193f, 197, 202, 223-225, 270, 286, 289f, 292, 308, 311, 315, 318, 326, 363, 371, 374-376, 379, 383-386
- Hiddenness: 59, 64, 69, 89, 94, 97, 111, 122, 130, 139, 184, 190, 270, 285f, 292, 321, 371, 374
- History: 14, 22, 48f, 71-73, 76-82, 92f, 120, 125, 132, 141f, 169, 175-178, 183, 186, 191, 207, 211f, 218, 222, 226, 230, 233, 251, 257-270, 272f, 275, 278f, 281, 301, 303, 316, 353f, 374, 376; and meta-history, 265; as the big basin, in which the individual is whitewashed from its guilt, 257; as judgment [Weltgeschichte as Weltgerichte], 77, 179, 259; as slaughter-
- bench, 77, 374; as theodicy, 76-78, 275; as totality, 78, 132, 183, 269, 293, 304, 320; church history, 191; eternal, 141; extrahistorical point of reference, 266, 341; fate turning into, 257; God's history with humankind, 178; historical complexity, 263; historical development, 2, 222, 259f, 263, 377; historical embroilments, 275; historical epochs, 258; historical memory, 227; historical progress, 266; historical relativism, 265; historicism, 265; historicity: Geschichtlichkeit/a-historicity, 234, 260, 264, 280; involved in, 262; misery of, 264, 268; outside history, ahistorical, 126, 238, 265, 267, 272, 353; perfection of, 260; redemption from or through, 261-268; situated in, 93; universal, 76; we do not 'have' it in order to 'understand' it, 263; world history 78, 175f, 22, 230, 259-261, 263-265, 273
- Hope: 4, 55, 82, 85, 95, 121, 134, 140f, 146-149, 152, 173f, 178f, 181, 215, 225, 233, 236, 238f, 244, 255, 268, 271, 272, 274-276, 287, 302, 320f, 325, 349, 386, 387
- Horizon: 24, 33f, 37, 42, 51f, 59-61, 69, 131, 171, 180, 199f, 296, 302, 331, 337, 352-359, 362, 364, 367-370, 373, 383-385; as 'prison' of phenomena, 362; horizon-of-all-horizons, 60f; noematic, 2; of being, 24, 356; of interpretation, 171, 224f, 385; of meaning, 367; of subjectivity/subjective constitution, 364; of the world, 200; of time, 359; phenomenon-in-a-horizon, 60f; (pre)determined, 357, 364, 369, 370; Sinnhorizont, 130, 225, 383; where heaven touches the earth, 199
- Human: action, 53, 85, 90, 117, 124, 138, 152-156, 183, 197, 218, 243, 293-297, 337, 349, 359, 381f; capacities and restrictions, 98; condition: conditio humana, 13, 143, 191, 309; creativity as autopoiesis, 382; deeds and discourse, 373; existence, 5, 17, 24, 25, 37, 96, 98, 129, 137, 268, 275, 288, 364, 376f; faculty to do something, 365; finitude, 302, 318; gift-giving, 106, 337, 338; giver/recipient, 338; institutions, 258; love, 18f, 68, 89, 99, 116, 129-131, 134, 149f, 154f, 161f, 167, 180, 188, 193f,

- 196, 203, 205f, 237f, 242f, 247, 251, 288, 291, 302f, 307f, 312, 332, 341, 343, 348; messengers, 347; mind, 129; nature, 29, 86, 135, 147, 156, 167, 310; praxis, 322; problems, 318; reason(ing), 1, 2, 5, 84, 86, 177, 269, 386; sin, 179, 271, 291f; speech, 102; spiritual powers, 135, 221; standpoint, 12, 41, 76, 91, 107, 129, 137, 208f, 229; suffering, 91; thought, 23, 287; time, 146, 333; transcendence, 92, 288, 301, 325; virtuousness, 155; witnessing, 214, 291, 323, 381
- Humanity: 50, 81, 107, 152, 170, 224, 265, 292, 296, 345
- Humankind: 43, 178
- Human being: 39, 96, 100-103, 111, 113f, 121, 123f, 140, 144, 146, 149, 155, 159, 166f, 173f, 185f, 194, 204, 209, 245, 254, 283, 290, 306, 313, 338f, 345f; as embodied mind, 322; as homo reus et perditus, 173; as person (see person); as sinner (see sinner); as spirit, 74, 76, 93, 129, 132, 135, 184, 249
- Idealism: 14, 22f, 71f, 112, 197f, 219f, 260, 277, 285, 375f; anti-idealism, 198; German, 14, 22f, 70-87, 112, 180, 182, 197f, 219f, 260, 277ff, 375-378; transcendental 73
- Image: 41, 97, 103f, 111-113, 176, 194, 202, 244, 272, 354, 372, 383
- Imagery: 24, 26, 64, 103, 194, 200, 325
- Immanence: 16f, 22, 24f, 27f, 36, 45-47, 52f, 59, 69, 74-76, 89f, 108f, 123-125, 130, 216-219, 269, 294, 297, 310, 324f, 370, 371, 375, 379
- Immediacy: 28, 36, 94, 98, 101, 107, 127, 163, 167, 378, 379
- Immediate: 11, 28, 29f, 36, 39, 44, 94, 98, 107, 153, 157, 166, 189, 196, 215, 218, 245, 247, 317, 321, 328, 331f, 381
- Immortality: 83-86, 204, 237, 241f, 278, 287, 302, 304; of the soul, 83f, 204, 237, 241f; vs. mortality 86, 237, 241, 278, 287, 302, 304
- Incarnation: 46, 75, 93, 101, 181, 290, 357
- Individual: individual/universal, 186; the individual, 10f, 21f, 39, 77, 90, 92, 118, 120, 130, 134, 137, 142f, 174, 176f, 192, 227, 231, 235f, 243, 248, 257, 259, 261-263, 269, 272, 292, 325, 332, 336, 347, 377; hiin Enkelte, 231
- Individuality: 172, 248, 377
- Infinite: 35, 40, 42f, 49, 61, 73, 75f, 107, 109f, 113, 115-117, 125, 133-137, 142, 147, 164, 180, 193, 238, 246, 250, 275, 287, 292, 302, 306, 310, 329, 339f, 379, 383; an infinite Now, 238; Ein Sof, 185, 289, 297; finitum capax infiniti, 93; 'idea of the Infinite in us,' 287; infinitizing movement, 147; network of references, 329; revealed without appearing, 289; the Infinite, 185, 287, 289f, 294, 301f, 310; in-finite, in-finitude, in-finity, 93f, 287, 250, 288
- Infinitude: 115, 340; of the debt, 340; of love, 340
- Intentional: 31-37, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 52f, 55f, 60, 62, 130, 134, 157, 160, 279-281, 288, 294-296, 312, 324, 327, 333, 364-366, 373; act(s), 31, 34-36, 44, 46, 62; constitution, 20, 31-33, 37-40, 55; object(s), 31-33, 37, 53, 55, 60, 130, 281, 284f, 327, 333, 373
- Intentionality: 20, 30f, 33f, 37, 52, 55, 61, 138, 279-281, 287f, 293-295, 299, 334, 362, 366-368, 372f
- Interiority, inwardness: 111, 116, 130, 135, 160, 168, 170f, 226; Inderlighed, 116, 135, 171; Indvorteshed, 111, 160; of love, 340
- Intersubjectivity: 31, 37f, 40f, 44, 50f, 53, 71, 301, 309, 311, 322
- Invisibility: 212, 326, 356, 382f
- Invisible: 61, 66, 70, 91, 103-105, 111f, 116, 120, 122, 125, 130, 145, 148, 168, 170, 179, 188, 200, 206, 212, 224, 300, 306, 309, 315, 330, 335, 338, 354-357, 363f, 371-374, 378, 381, 383f, 386
- Irrationality: 96
- Israel: 61, 196, 214, 226, 231, 272, 314
- Job: biblical, 84, 86, 173; book of, 69, 77, 85f, 255f; 's conscience, 85; 's friends, 59, 174, 256, 313; Hiob, 77, 387, 404; 's restitution, 85; 's story, 85, 172, 175, 251f, 299, 313, 316, 387; 's suffering, 313f; 's wife, 255, 256; -like questions,

- 252, 274; the grammatical speciality of, 256
- Judaism: 219, 225-227, 231f, 239, 241, 260f, 264-266, 272, 282f, 285, 303f, 314, 322, 396, 402, 404f
- Judeo-Christian: 27, 290
- Judgment: 77f, 85f, 135, 137, 145, 163, 249, 259, 261, 263, 272, 288, 303, 313
- Justice: 1, 4, 20, 83-86, 90, 126, 152, 167, 251, 291f, 300f, 303, 307, 312-315, 321, 374, 387
- Kabbalah: 185, 194, 214, 400
- Kabbalistic: 3, 185, 249, 270, 289, 297
- Kingdom: 86, 260f, 316, 360; coming of the, 191, 197, 214, 234-240, 266, 273, 288, 336; God's Kingdom on earth, 258; of God, 237, 264, 336; postponed till kingdom come, 261
- Knowledge: 9, 14, 27-29, 42f, 45, 47, 73, 75, 79, 107, 108, 125, 130, 133, 136f, 139, 145-147, 184f, 187, 189, 224, 239, 280, 286, 297, 320f, 346f, 354, 356, 368, 369, 377, 378
- Language: 9, 24, 26-28, 38f, 94f, 98, 102-106, 110, 116, 155, 165, 179, 184, 193-195, 198, 200-203, 205, 216f, 221f, 224-226, 251f, 275, 278, 280, 285, 288, 320f, 323, 328-332, 343, 345, 348-350, 372f, 379, 382, 384, 389; beyond the apophantic, non-predicative: de-nomination, 373; as bridge, 194, 198, 216, 222, 251, 348, 348; as counterfeit money, 331f; le dire//le dit, 323; as event of listening and answering, 194; as exchange, 193, 332, 348; language use, 94; linguistic ambiguity, 33; multiplicity of languages, 195; of love, 194, 200-203, 217; pragmatic, semantic and syntactic dimensions of, 323; problem and promise of, 94-96; the revealing role of, 193-195; as speech, speech-thinking, 7, 19, 28, 67, 94f, 102, 159, 193f, 203, 212, 217, 220, 223, 247, 257, 268, 275, 291f, 323, 325, 344, 347-349, 372, 382, 384; sprechende//unausgesprochene Sprache, 323; theo-morphous, 201; verbal//non-verbal, 42, 288, 323, 384
- Likeness: 97, 232, 249
- Loss: 92, 164, 170, 172f, 216, 254, 255, 297, 336, 371
- Love: abiding (in), 121, 145f, 246, 304; 's abundance, 151, 340; as action, work(s), 18, 67, 111, 123-125, 130, 134f, 138, 149, 155f, 162f, 167, 202, 212-215, 242, 243-245, 251, 266, 291, 346, 339; agapic, 162, 266; 's allegory: more than allegorical, 200-206; all-love (and its not-yet), 191-193; 's ambiguity, 135; and justice, 300-302, 315, 387; as strong as death, 204, 241; as attachment, 152; as attitude, 289, 386; blindness of, 246; changelessly love in all its changes, 150f; commanded, 150f, 163, 165, 168, 240, 246f, 283, 306, 312; compassionate, 160, 245, 312; 's continuity, 134, 150, 165, 180, 245, 342; debt of loving one another, 115, 339, 342; as destiny, 247; as dialectical process, 131f, 222f; divine and human love: uniting and identifying the different? 133-135; as drive, 163, 168f, 248, 275; as duty, 133f, 150, 153, 156-158, 160f, 163-167, 257, 305, 325, 331, 340, 342, 363; Elskov, 134, 154, 165, 168-172; as emotion, feeling, passion: en Følelser Lidenskab, 111, 133, 143, 151f, 157-168, 195, 203, 242, 229, 245f, 287, 291, 300, 312, 326, 345, 384; (non)erotic, 21, 131, 133f, 153, 155, 158, 162, 165, 168-171, 201, 204-206, 245, 248f, 251, 310, 312f; Eros//Thanatos, 201, 205; as eternity in time, 144-146, 238; Forkjerlighed//Aandens Kjerlighed, 168-172, 134f; friendship: Venskab, 131, 153f, 155, 168-171; as fulfillment of the law, 162f; God's (see God); as God's attribute//event, 159, 164, 167, 204, 244f, 296, 334; as ground of everything, 161f; 's hidden origin, life and works, 108-117; 's history, 222f, 169; immediate, 166; impartial, 134, 150, 246; as (im)possible gift, 18, 20, 321, 337-342; inclinational, 133, 150, 160, 163, 165-169, 245; incomprehensible, 151-172, 286; incommensurability of loves, 170; 's infinitude, 115-117, 340; in life, not in theory, 244; Kjerlighed, 134f,

- 153-156, 158, 161, 165, 169; lack of, 67f, 89, 195, 376, 384; linking the temporal and eternal, 109f; lives in being communicated, 347; love deal, 134, 340; as a matter of mood, 150; metapsychical and metaphysical dimension of, 168; as need: Trang, 135, 156, 158, 244; as non-useless suffering, 314; of the beloved, 164, 166, 214; of one's enemy, 166; of God, 13, 67, 115, 149f, 155, 166, 193, 224, 241, 247, 271, 307f, 341; of the neighbor, neighbor(ly) love, 14, 131, 149, 152, 154-156, 160f, 165-170, 205, 218, 228, 235, 237f, 243-247, 305-308; 's phenomenalization, 224f; play of love, 131f, 341; preferential/non-preferential, 135, 166, 168-172, 206, 245; as quality of being for the other, 63, 245, 347; reciprocal, 115, 224, 340; as redoubling, reduplication, 108-112, 115, 119, 125, 128, 131-136, 149, 158, 167, 205, 339; 's relationality, 223; requited/unrequited, 150, 224, 240-242, 342; as regulative ideal, 129, 223, 377; as relation(ship), 18, 112, 144f, 149, 154, 162, 169, 171f, 202, 205f, 224, 243, 286, 302; as responsibility, 312; secured against despair, 163-166; as self-expressing reality between the agents, 346; self-love(r), 115, 128, 134, 168, 171, 347; as speech: sensual-supersensual, 193, 203; spiritual love, spirit of love, love as spirit: 66, 112, 132, 135, 167f, 205, 347; spontaneous, 165; that sustains all existence, 121; as task and talent, 309; 's transcendence (see transcendence); that translates evil into good, 145, 236; unconditional, 149, 170, 309; uniting, 133-135; universal, ethical, 53, 169, 177, 309; as virtue, 151-157, 165-167, 244f, 312; void of, 195-197, 271, 334; vs. Ungeliebtheit/Lieblosigkeit 195
- Maieutics: 346
- Manifestation: 31, 35, 38, 40, 45, 48f, 52, 61, 74, 79, 101, 109, 111f, 151, 191, 200, 206, 214, 259, 282, 293, 295, 305, 349, 356, 359f, 362, 369; als-structure of, 362; dative of, 49, 52; in interiority, 110-112
- Marriage: 80, 143, 172, 203, 205, 253
- Mediation: 53, 56, 67, 71, 76, 107f, 125, 127, 132, 176, 196, 218, 267, 328, 329, 377, 380f
- Memory: 140, 227, 274, 322, 328f, 349, 381
- Merciful: 159, 160, 196
- Mercifulness: 113, 160, 345
- Merit: 85, 156
- Meritoriousness: 123, 155
- Messiah: 232, 236, 363
- Messianic: 265, 302, 304
- Metaphor: 25, 35, 81, 97, 101-105, 133, 199, 232, 240, 281, 301, 316, 328, 371, 373, 385
- Metaphorical: 13, 50, 101-106, 200, 202, 304, 359, 371
- Metaphysical: 27, 47f, 93, 118, 125, 130, 149, 168, 187, 191, 193, 223, 279, 294, 299, 310, 316, 327, 330, 334, 352, 377
- Method: 11f, 20, 28, 43, 45, 58, 70f, 90, 100, 137f, 335, 345, 351, 356, 361f, 368f, 383
- Methodological: 15, 125, 127, 219, 321, 377
- Minerva's owl: 259
- Mitzvah*: 303
- Moment: 22, 25, 29, 33, 36, 63, 67, 70f, 76, 91-95, 97, 111, 113, 120-124, 132, 144, 146-148, 150, 154, 161f, 165, 172f, 180f, 187, 192, 196-199, 202-205, 209-214, 226-229, 235-247, 253, 264-267, 270, 274, 279, 288-291, 297f, 300-303, 324, 326, 328, 332-334, 337, 340, 342, 358-360, 375, 377, 384; as living now, 279; Augenblick: 'blink of an eye', 92, 219, 267, 329, 396, 404, 408; cairological fulfillment, 287; desperate moment, moment of despondency, 144; instant, 63, 329; Mittelpunkt, 229; momentariness of God's love: 'ever wholly of the moment,' 333f; momentary, 203, 241-244, 287, 334, 340-342; moment(s) in time, succession of moments, 93, 229; of love, 180, 244, 246; renewal of the, 236-238; that gets stuck and stands still, 148; Øieblikket (its theological, ethical, Christological, soteriological, time-philosophical aspects), 92, 146, 229, 333
- Monism: 76, 176, 223
- Monistic: 185, 269
- Moral: 6, 65, 83-86, 152f, 155f, 166, 169, 181, 186, 242f, 248, 257-260, 264, 275, 292, 309, 313f, 322, 326, 363

- Morality: 7, 83, 85, 129, 173, 178, 292, 298, 304, 307, 313, 316, 322, 326
 Mutuality: 195, 228, 322
 Mystic: 307
 Mysticism: 185, 214, 247, 249
- Name: 14, 89f, 102f, 105, 169, 172, 190,
 193, 198-200, 215, 220, 229, 237, 242,
 249, 255, 289, 316, 318, 332, 344, 373
 Negativity: 13, 17, 78, 82, 89, 131f, 143f,
 151, 175, 178f, 184, 225, 233f, 236, 239,
 254, 271, 274, 298, 300, 317, 376f, 385
 Neighbor: 14, 54, 67, 112, 114f, 120, 128,
 131, 134, 136, 149f, 154-156, 160-171,
 180, 205f, 218, 223, 228f, 235-240,
 242, 244-249, 289, 292, 296f, 301, 303,
 305-315, 325, 347
 Noema: 31, 62f, 282, 286, 294, 328, 367
 Noematic: 52, 294, 324
 Noesis: 31, 62, 63, 286, 294, 328, 367
 Noetic: 52
 Non-in-difference: 323
 Norm: 49, 52, 129, 223
 Normative: 11, 49, 55, 92, 130, 157
 Normativity: 223, 226
- Obligation: 133f, 163, 166, 234, 292, 296, 309, 314, 323, 340, 342
 Obligatory: 342
 Ontological: 2, 23-25, 27, 48, 62, 72, 100f,
 106f, 162, 185f, 202, 280f, 284, 299,
 310f, 330, 355f, 368f, 385
 Ontology: 14, 26, 49, 137f, 189, 281f, 299, 323
 Orientation: 5, 8, 11f, 58f, 81f, 129, 137,
 199, 209, 243, 246, 265, 279, 324
 Other: 5-19, 24-29, 35-43, 46, 52, 54-102,
 106f, 110-119, 122-125, 128f, 131,
 133-136, 139f, 145-150, 153-155,
 157-161, 164-175, 178-180, 182, 185f,
 188-190, 192, 194, 196, 198-200,
 202-206, 208-213, 215f, 218f, 222f,
 226-228, 230f, 234f, 237f, 240f, 244-246,
 249-252, 255, 257, 262, 268, 271, 273f,
 276, 278-281, 283, 286, 289f, 292-303,
 305-317, 319-326, 329, 331, 333-336,
 338-340, 342, 344-348, 350f, 358,
- 367-370, 374-376, 378-385, 409
 Otherness: 17, 26, 73, 107, 131, 136, 270,
 279-282, 293, 295, 300, 317, 367, 409
- Pain: 2-4, 83f, 95, 131, 159, 164f, 231, 252, 256, 299, 312, 314, 325, 354
 Pantheism: 21, 74, 98, 269
 Parable: 231, 233, 275, 299
 Particularity: 133, 224, 332, 377
 Passivity: 18, 25, 240, 288, 297-299, 312f,
 317, 363, 365f, 387
 Past: 17, 34, 39, 47, 63, 82, 92, 95, 121, 140,
 143f, 146-148, 173, 180, 187, 192, 195f,
 204, 207-212, 215, 222, 227, 230, 233,
 236, 238, 255, 259, 271, 278f, 287, 294,
 296, 303, 319, 320, 323, 349, 350, 353,
 381f, 384
 Patience: 131, 148, 174, 179, 288, 346, 352
 Perception: 15, 31-34, 42, 105, 163, 274,
 286, 328f, 353, 370-373, 380
 Perceptual: 7, 32f, 54, 137f, 157, 297
 Person: 3, 5f, 8, 10f, 25, 29, 39, 42, 54,
 59, 67, 73, 75, 82, 86, 92, 97, 102, 105,
 106, 113-116, 121, 123, 133, 140-156,
 158-169, 174, 176f, 191-194, 198, 205,
 209, 222, 232, 235f, 248, 253, 256, 261,
 274, 281, 289f, 292, 295, 298, 300,
 302, 306, 308f, 311, 315, 322, 325, 333,
 335, 337, 339, 340, 344-346, 349, 373,
 375-377, 382
 Perspective: 5f, 12, 24f, 32, 38f, 42, 60f, 65,
 75, 90, 93, 101, 104, 106, 112, 114, 118,
 129f, 138, 145, 164, 169f, 177, 180, 187f,
 194, 208f, 212, 222, 236, 256, 321f, 342,
 354, 370, 372, 377, 382; first-person, 25,
 39; incompleteness of, 39; perspective-bound interpretation, 32, 61, 138; per-spectiveity, 5, 384; post-Shoah, 15, 180, 291, 318; quasi-divine, 86, 177; reversal/change of, 354
 Phenomenality: 5, 8, 15, 20, 63, 89f, 101,
 119, 136, 197, 200, 212, 215, 218, 224f,
 270f, 286, 291, 296, 319, 330, 335-337,
 353, 360-371, 374f, 381, 385; and revelation, 351ff, 366-370; and the presence of God, 57-64, 351-375; as deception, 212-215; condition of, 330, 371; (non) phenomenality, 5, 8, 89f, 136, 271, 364,

- 370f, 374f, 385; non-phenomenality, 15, 224, 286, 291, 296, 319, 363, 374, 381
- Phenomenalization: 100f, 106, 108, 137, 337, 366, 381, 382f
- Phenomenon, phenomena: 2, 7f, 15-24, 31, 35f, 40, 43-45, 48, 57-63, 70f, 79, 101, 106, 116f, 130f, 135-138, 150, 169, 197f, 200, 206, 217, 223-225, 277, 286, 309, 328-337, 343, 349, 351-375, 378-385; appearing other than they are in themselves, 331; creating the seer, 364; Heidegger's definition of the, 331, 369; of God, 'God-phenomenon,' 43f, 225, 373f, 382; of God's love, 225; oblique, 137f; of poor intuition, 360; ordinary, 131; parasitical, 2; revealed, 354f; saturated, 17, 20, 24, 277, 351, 352-360, 364-370, 373f; Σώζειν τὰ φαινόμενα, 7
- Phenomenology: 5, 7f, 13-16, 18, 20-22, 32, 36, 43-48, 50, 53, 57f, 70, 99, 101, 106, 123, 128-131, 136-139, 157, 219, 222-224, 277-279, 282, 284f, 293, 297f, 327f, 351, 355f, 361-363, 368f, 374-378, 381-384; as theological method/fundamental theology/ancilla theologiae, 369; Christian, 138f; French, 13-16, 99, 139, 219, 224, 277f; genetic, 279; Heidegger's, 137f, 277-282, 284, 319, 324, 354, 360f, 368f, 376; Husserl's, 16, 20, 22, 36, 45, 58, 284, 293, 327f, 374, 375f; Husserlian, 15, 137, 278, 328, 376; idealistic, 376; of (the human 'sight' of) God('s love), 383; of religion, 355; of suffering, 298; of the gift, 361, 363; of the God-relationship, 139; of the invisible, 378; of the practice of loving, 157; post-Husserlian, 137; post-idealistic, 377; semiotic, 376, 381; transcendental, 47, 48, 376
- Phenomenological: 8, 14, 20, 22, 35, 37, 43, 45, 49, 52, 57-59, 63, 71f, 136-139, 219, 223, 282, 309, 322, 351, 354, 360-362, 368f, 374f; descriptions of experience, 138; method, 20, 43, 45, 351, 361f; moment in German idealism, 22, 71, 375; reduction, 360
- Phenomenologist: 20, 136, 139, 219, 361f; Kierkegaard – a phenomenologist? 136-140; Rosenzweig – a phenomenologist? 219
- Philosophy: 5, 11f, 16, 20-23, 42, 48f, 72f, 76, 78, 80f, 114, 125, 129, 132, 136, 143, 152, 168, 176, 178, 182, 184f, 188, 190, 197, 207, 220, 222f, 245, 254, 257f, 260-263, 267, 269, 281, 284, 290, 292, 296, 311, 314, 316, 318, 321, 351, 354, 367f, 371, 396; as exploration of the rational, 80; as 'love of wisdom' that becomes 'wisdom of love,' 296; as thinking of revealedness, 368; erfahrende Philosophie: 'absolute empiricism,' 223; 'first philosophy,' 368; 'from Ionia to Jena,' 185; idealistic, 184, 220, 269; 'negative'/'positive,' 207; of emotion, 168, 245; of history, 76, 132, 261, 263, 316; of orientation, 5, 11f; of religion, 5, 11f, 351; 'of sin without salvation,' 292; 'old philosophy'/'new thinking,' 188f, 216, 223, 227; system of, 321; transcendental, 16, 21, 72, 223, 367
- Possibility: 5, 7, 16, 18, 33, 40, 48, 53, 69f, 75, 81, 84, 92, 105-107, 118, 120, 128, 130, 146, 153, 163, 178, 190, 192, 203, 223, 225, 244, 255, 261, 271, 286, 299, 307, 329, 331, 340, 352-355, 362, 367, 369, 374f, 386
- Possible: 6f, 11f, 15, 17f, 20-23, 25, 30, 33, 41, 43, 45, 48, 50f, 61, 63, 76, 78, 85f, 93, 102, 104f, 110f, 115f, 121, 123, 127, 129f, 133, 137, 139f, 142f, 146, 148, 152, 155f, 160, 168, 171-175, 178, 180, 204, 209f, 212, 217-219, 223, 225, 227, 236, 242-244, 252f, 257, 261, 271-274, 294, 297, 300f, 310, 327, 330-344, 353, 361-363, 369f, 377f, 381
- Postulate: 83f, 86, 316
- Praxis: 22, 56, 130, 223, 296, 322, 377
- Prayer: 12, 23, 27, 60, 96, 98, 120, 122, 135, 159, 160, 167, 195-197, 215, 217, 224, 233, 234f, 239, 246, 255, 266, 274, 288f, 301, 336, 344, 356
- Presence: as access to reality, 326; as adesse/advent, 147; as consolation, 319-326, 291; as ever-coming withdrawal, 324; as gift, 17, 20, 277, 332, 334, 336, 343, 347, 349f, 351, 357-360, 364-366, 368, 374, 378, 381f, 384; as mode of appearance, 63, 279, 326, 378; as mode of participation in events, situa-

- tions and encounters, 326; as relation of subjectivity and alterity, 281; as synchronization, synchrony, 301, 319-326, 293-295, 301, 322, 324; as withdrawal into non-presence, 279; Christ's praesentia realis, 369; complexity of, 62-64, 279; co-presence with God, 36f, 44, 324; co-presence of the body, 295; corporeal presence of the spirit, 357; divine (see divine); eternal, 78, 140-144, 148, 180, 187, 227, 268, 319, 324; field of presence (protention, impression, retention), 278; God's 'all-time presentness,' 209; God's universal co-presence, 60; intuitional, 281; metaphysics of, 14, 17f, 277-282, 319, 327-329, 378; mettre une chose en presence à quelqu'un, 320; (non) presence, 17f, 68, 293-297, 315, 319, 381; no-thing-ness of God's presence, 380; objective//subjective, 39, 327; of Christianity, 260; of God transcendent, 16, 28, 30, 57f, 71, 89, 117-123, 179, 197-215; of the noema, 280-282; of the self-conscious subject, 278-280; omnipresence, 30, 98, 117-120, 122, 179, 270, 304, 333; (non)phenomenal, 55, 60-62, 117, 121, 315, 337, 381; présence à soi, 329; presentness of feelings, 203; primal presencing, 40, 49, 51f, 54f; real, 62, 94, 142, 254, 379; salvific presence, 18, 30, 92, 319; spiritual, 65-67, 119, 359, 380; symbolized: mediate immediacy, 379; to embody, 17, 325; vs. non-presence 15, 21f, 59, 64, 69, 91, 97, 178, 191, 279, 293f, 296, 315, 328f, 380
- Present: a present that cannot be (a) present, 329-332; as a gift, 332, 343, 363; as spirit, 66; becoming(-)present, 56, 60, 64, 97, 117-123, 209, 212, 218, 242, 286, 297, 379; Being-present: Anwesenheit, 62f, 120, 199, 278, 280f, 325, 328, 330; det Nærværende, 146; fleeting, 302; Gegenwart, 29, 35, 38, 78, 192, 209, 215, 244, 280; Gegenwärtigkeit, 203, 215; (das) Gegenwärtige, 80, 207, 258; Erkennen ist Gegenwärtigen, 280; Gegenwärtigwerden, 242; Gegenwartseinheit, 46; grasping the present, 140; imperishable, 238; maintenant, 293; Mit-Gegenwart, 295; negatively qualified, 17, 179, 300, 324, 326; of God's love, 19, 333f; of love's transcendence, 20, 236, 327-374; of revelation, 207-210, 320; phenomenally present, 56, 130, 200, 205, 375; praesens, 330; shared, shaped together, 322; the anticipated present of redemption, 210, 324; the continued present of creation, 208; the indexical 'I-now-here,' 332; the 'living present,' 37f, 40, 54, 209, 325, 327-329; the present as site of initiative and choice, 296; the present as temporal mode of revelation, dialogue and love, 284; transcending the, 17, 297, 301, 324; within or despite appearances, 333-337; working in the present, not for the present 302
- Presentation: 12f, 42, 56, 98, 222, 224, 280, 295, 317, 328f, 336, 348, 380; Gegenwärtigung//Vergegenwärtigung, 32, 295, 328f, 349; perceptual, 32, 138; (linguistic) re-presentation, 32, 98, 138, 233, 288, 328f, 349f, 379-381
- 'Principle of all principles:' 45, 280, 331, 352f
- Process: dialectical, 2, 76, 131f, 222, 267; dialogical, 222; finitizing, 147; historical, 132, 233, 270; of becoming oneself, 131; of constitution, 37, 42; of God's self-realization, 43; of mediation, 132; of prayer, 233, 288; of presenting, letting go, 208, 281; of thought: des Denkens, 178; of transfiguration, 96f; progressive, 56; result of the, 55, 76, 107; semiotic, 332, 343, 379
- Proximity: of God, 69, 231, 319; of the neighbor, 294-297; of the self to itself, 327
- Punishment: 174, 177, 256f, 313, 316
- Rational: 10, 13, 18, 29, 42, 49, 51, 57, 65, 76, 78-82, 85, 142f, 158, 177, 179, 197, 258f, 270f, 273, 312, 352, 355, 368f, 376, 386
- Rationality: 23, 49-52, 79-81, 86, 90, 138, 149, 258f, 270, 285, 356; die Vernünftigkeit des Wirklichen, 258; Was vernünftig ist, das ist wirklich; und was wirklich ist, das ist vernünftig, 79, 258; wonder of rationality, 50f

- Rationalization: 275, 299
- Reality: 6, 23-27, 31, 37, 40, 46-48, 53, 55, 60-62, 73f, 76-82, 85, 91, 94, 98, 103f, 109, 116f, 129f, 133, 138, 142-145, 154, 158, 178, 185f, 189f, 198, 200-202, 214, 216-218, 222-224, 230, 234f, 239, 246, 250, 257-260, 266, 269, 271, 273, 299, 317, 320, 326, 332, 343, 346, 350, 356, 359, 367, 377, 379, 380; Wirklichkeit, 78f, 142, 199, 216, 258f
- Reason: 1f, 5-7, 17f, 21, 23, 25f, 44, 47, 49, 51, 65, 76-86, 89, 96-98, 100, 109, 111, 115, 123, 125, 134, 139, 143, 149, 162, 165, 172, 174, 176-179, 183, 188, 193, 196, 222, 228, 230, 233, 245, 253, 256, 258-260, 263, 268-270, 273, 275, 281, 285f, 288, 292, 295, 297, 301, 312-314, 316, 318, 323, 325, 334, 336, 338, 342, 352, 356, 363, 370f, 374, 376, 379, 386; above/beyond reason, 23, 96, 176, 178, 263, 297; 'cunning of reason:' List der Vernunft, 77; Fornuft, 176; knowing itself: $\nu\theta\eta\sigma\iota\varsigma$ $\nu\theta\eta\sigma\epsilon\omega\varsigma$, 81; lumen naturale, 184; practical reason, 17, 83f; theoretical reason, 17, 83f; tribunal of human reason, 1, 5; within the limits of, 83, 176
- Receptivity: 30, 56, 240, 298, 317, 344, 354
- Reciprocal: 56, 115f, 150, 173, 189, 191, 214, 224, 239, 240, 262, 325, 340
- Reciprocity: 134, 262, 314, 331, 340, 363
- Recognition: 4, 24, 127, 134, 154, 183, 235, 331, 339, 340, 356
- Recollection, Erindring: 34, 140, 144, 147, 233, 293, 320, 340
- Reconciliation: 10, 78, 81f, 97, 133f, 146, 178, 235, 248, 257, 264, 273, 275, 346; Versöhnung (with negativity), 78, 179
- Recurrence: 278, 303, 373
- Redemption: 147, 186, 191, 206-215, 218, 222f, 227, 231f, 235-237, 250f, 256, 262-270, 273, 275, 289, 303f, 307f, 320, 336, 341, 349, 381; binden/entbinden, lösen/erlösen, 262;
- Reduplication, redoubling: 108-110, 115, 119, 125, 128, 131, 133f, 136, 149, 158, 167, 205, 206, 339; Fordoblelse, 108f, 115
- Reflection: 7, 9, 11-13, 29, 35f, 38, 41, 44, 48f, 58, 70, 72, 80, 94, 103, 107, 109, 112f, 131, 133, 136, 153, 157, 167, 179, 259, 299, 330, 387
- Reflective: 28-30, 34f, 41, 44, 51, 57f, 70, 137f, 185, 296, 321, 340
- Religion: 5, 11f, 43, 49, 74, 81, 83f, 89, 129, 155, 176, 183, 260, 264-266, 270, 275, 290, 305f, 326, 351, 355, 362; Religious: 11-13, 18, 37, 49, 58, 60f, 72, 74, 76, 79, 90, 95, 134, 139, 152, 155, 163, 174, 177, 182, 206, 229, 257, 264-266, 309f, 321f, 345, 369
- Re-orientation: 12, 59
- Repetition, Gentagelse: 121, 147, 172f, 266, 301, 304, 328f, 339
- Representation: 19, 28, 101, 103f, 163, 222, 230, 293, 295, 329f, 343, 348-350, 379f, 384
- Responsibility: 9f, 148, 169, 215, 234, 273, 289, 292, 294, 296f, 300f, 303, 306f, 309-312, 314f, 322, 339, 346
- Responsivity: 306, 312, 368, 373, 382
- Revelation: 1, 20, 59, 63, 90, 100, 105, 184-189, 191, 193f, 199f, 203, 206-218, 222f, 228, 234-237, 250f, 256, 265, 267, 270, 283, 286, 289f, 293, 297, 300, 305, 308, 315, 320f, 349, 354f, 364, 366, 368f; ante revelationem/post revelationem, 218; Offenbarung, 199, 209, 265, 317, 362, 368; Offenbarsein, 362, revealedness/Offenbarkeit, 368
- Revealed, (non)revealed: 44, 49, 101, 120, 129, 148, 186, 187, 189, 190, 194, 198, 203, 209, 289, 290, 292, 297, 305, 308, 334, 354, 355, 362, 369, 383
- Reward: 78, 154, 256, 313, 316, 346
- Sacrifice: 3, 120, 133, 305, 339
- Salvation: 29, 49, 81, 92, 98, 147, 185, 188, 231, 273, 292, 316, 336, 340, 343f, 349, 350, 383
- Salvific: 18, 30, 92, 292, 319, 343, 350, 381
- Satan: 143, 144, 175, 255
- Scholastic: 151, 153
- Sefirah: 185
- Self: 1, 4, 6, 8, 11f, 17, 20f, 25f, 28-38, 42-45, 49, 55-57, 59, 62f, 67, 69, 72-79, 82, 86, 92-95, 97f, 100f, 106-109, 111-116, 120, 123-125, 127-138, 141, 143, 147, 149f, 152-154, 157, 159, 163f,

- 166-169, 171, 175, 178-180, 184-187, 189, 193, 195-198, 206, 208, 210, 213, 214, 220, 223, 225-227, 233, 243-245, 247-249, 251f, 260, 269, 271-273, 275, 277-282, 286, 288, 290, 295, 298, 300-306, 308, 310f, 315-318, 320-322, 324, 327-329, 331, 333-335, 337f, 340, 346-351, 356, 363-366, 369-371, 374, 376f, 382f; as synthesis, 93f, 180, 230, 242, 287f; extra se, 143; in the accusative prior to the ego, 296, 316; negative concept of the, 180; relational, 92-94, 196, 311; selfish, self-seeking//unselfishness, 133, 159, 169, 171, 233, 301//346f; self-alienation, 73, 76, 133, 251; self-appropriation, 73; self-awareness, 34f, 260; self-centredness, 347; self-congratulation, self-gratification, 331, 340; self-conscious subject, 20, 62, 278-280, 320; self-deception, 113, 138; self-denial, 123f, 154, 169, 244f, 347; self-determination, 75, 86, 178, 243; self-differentiation, 74f, 108, 132; self-enclosedness, self-enclosure, 92, 301, 247; self-expenditure without return, 135f; self-giveness, 31-37, 280, 328; self-important, 347; self-limitation, 178; self-love(r) (see love); self-knowledge, 43, 75, 108, 130, 137, 377; self-orientation, 324; self-othering, 57, 75, 107, 130, 132, 251; self-recuperation, 135f; self-relation, 92-94, 129, 131, 134f, 164, 223, 288, 311; self-sacrificing, 347; self-transcendence, 17, 57, 72, 74, 147, 149f, 179, 271, 277, 290, 295, 298, 300, 302, 376; self-transformation, 210, 244f, 344; self-transparent, 138; self-understanding, 6, 8, 12, 25, 97, 127, 137, 226, 318; sinning, 334; the 'I,' 51, 197, 223, 281, 354; the mute self//the eloquent soul, 193, 306
- Selfhood: 134, 322, 367, 377, 409
- Semiosis: 343, 379
- Sign: 105, 114, 119, 230, 315, 329, 330, 341, 343, 357, 359, 379f, 383
- Signification: 48, 104, 308, 379f
- Signified: 202, 332, 380
- Signifier: 202, 332, 363
- Silence: 126, 146, 194f, 230, 252, 268, 288, 325
- Sin: 2, 21, 83, 85, 92, 94, 96, 98, 139f, 153, 163, 179, 181, 184, 192, 195f, 248, 271, 273, 291f, 313, 384; actuality of, 92; and salvation, 98; as disregard of the God-relationship, not as moral malefactum, 292; as forgetfulness of God, 179; as a wrong self-qualification of the spirit, 98; confession of, 92, 94, 96, 195f; disengaging/separating from God, 123; distorting the view of God, 195f; incurvatio in se, 132; multitude of sins, 146; of omission, 195, 291-293; redemption from, 147, 273; Sündhaftigkeit: Liebeleere, 195; temporally to lose the eternal, 140
- Sinfulness: 92, 155, 195
- Sinner: 173f, 196f, 291
- Sociality: 134, 305, 307f, 312, 326, 377
- Socrates: 345f
- Spatiotemporal: 26, 28, 37, 39, 64
- Spatiotemporality: 25, 111, 179, 186, 192, 322
- Spirit: 57, 65f, 73-78, 81f, 89, 92-94, 97f, 102, 112, 114, 116f, 119, 122f, 125, 128-133, 135-137, 159, 166-172, 179, 184, 206, 219-222, 237, 247, 249f, 257-261, 263, 268, 278, 312, 319, 335, 346-348, 357, 362, 377, 383; Aand, 93, 116, 135, 168-172, 158; absolute, 74-76, 81, 114, 129f, 134f, 219, 222, 249, 259f, 263, 267, 377; deified, 220; finite, 74, 76, 129, 132, 135, 184, 249; Holy Spirit, 30, 97, 132, 139, 153, 167, 220-222, 344, 347; objective, 114, 129; of grace, of love, 66; of the world: Weltgeist, 76; subjective, 129
- Spiritual: 65f, 89, 93, 98, 102, 112, 116, 119, 135, 141, 143, 151, 153, 158, 170-172, 179, 181, 202, 220, 221f, 229, 237, 242, 259, 270, 293, 311, 314, 320, 324, 333, 335, 357, 359, 380
- State: Hegel und der Staat, 182, 248, 257; stateless, 264, 272; the Christian/Prussian, 258, 260
- Subject, subjectivity: 16, 18, 20, 24, 31f, 35 37-58, 62f, 70-74, 76, 79, 84, 90, 92, 94, 101, 104, 107, 109, 113, 116, 131, 135-139, 142, 155, 157, 164-166, 176, 189, 194, 197, 222, 226, 257, 259, 264, 278, 280f, 285, 287, 293-296, 301, 305, 309, 311, 316f, 320, 325-329, 353f, 359f, 361, 364f, 367, 377; Allsubjektivität, 42;

- as Adieu, unto-God, 287f; as l'adonné: the gifted, 364; constituting, 35, 37, 43f, 52; coram deo, 18; egological 40, 51, 53, 293, 317; as enigma's partner, 316; as fundamentum, ὑποκειμένον, 280; as infinity, 93, 287; lateness of, 316; as one-for-the-other, 290, 308; passive levels of, 364; responsive and responsible, 311; as self-relation, 129, 164, 311; self-conscious, 20, 62, 278-280, 320; self-present, 295, 327; as susception, submission, subjection, 287, 316; as substitution, 292, 311, 316; as synthesis (see self); as temple or theatre of transcendence, 287; transcendental, 31, 39, 42, 45-48, 50-53, 57, 71f, 278, 328, 377
- Substance: 74, 107, 153, 189, 325
- Suffering: 2-4, 6, 8-11, 15, 17, 21, 66, 68f, 81, 85f, 89, 91, 118f, 143f, 159f, 164, 168, 174, 177-179, 181, 184, 214, 229-234, 252-256, 271-272, 274f, 291, 298f, 306, 312-316, 325, 347, 412; Leid(en), 229, 231, 252, 254, 257, 326;
- Suicide: 253, 254
- Symbolic: 329, 331, 359
- Sympathy: 160, 230, 339, 345
- Synchrony: 293-295, 301, 319-326; asynchrony: defect in lived synchronism, 326; desynchronization, 326; synchrony//diachrony, 293, 296, 302, 319-326
- Synthesis: of psyche and body, 93; of the temporal and the eternal, 93; passive synthesis, 288, 362
- Talmud: 322
- Teleology, τέλος: 37, 42, 50-54, 56f, 85, 176, 268, 272, 316
- Temporal: 25, 28, 33-36, 39f, 51, 63, 80, 86, 89, 92-94, 107, 109-111, 120, 132, 135, 137, 141, 146f, 149, 154, 186, 188, 191f, 203, 206, 208-212, 215, 218, 223, 225-229, 233, 236-238, 243f, 249, 251, 259, 265-269, 271, 278f, 281, 283, 287f, 293f, 296, 298, 300, 304, 319-321, 324-326, 330, 333f, 342, 349, 367, 376f, 381
- Temporality: 17f, 28, 33f, 36, 38f, 78, 80, 92f, 95, 97f, 117, 120, 140, 143f, 150, 184, 210, 226, 228f, 237, 265, 268-270, 280, 288, 294, 297, 304, 319, 320, 330, 334, 384
- Temptation: God tempting man, 255; 'Lead us not into temptation!' 255; man tempting God, 255; the greatest temptation: to become disheartened, 256; to tempt [friste] vs. test, 335
- Theodicy: 1-5, 8f, 11-18, 21f, 64, 66, 69-71, 76-78, 82-85, 87, 89-91, 96, 105, 111, 117f, 125, 149, 165, 168, 172, 174-177, 179, 181, 183f, 191f, 251, 257, 261, 263f, 270f, 275, 277, 283, 290, 298f, 313-317, 319, 324, 327, 329, 333, 365, 370, 374-376, 384-387, 392, 394; and anthropodicy, 85; authentic, 83-85; doctrinal, 83, 85, 87; felix culpa theodicy, 181; Free Will Defense, 3, 180, 273; Hegel's, 257-270; history as, 76-78, 275; justification or defense of God, 18, 69, 76, 85, 177, 179, 181, 270f, 274, 312, 376, 386; Leibniz', 1, 142, 176, 352; Kant "On the Failure of All Philosophical Attempts at Theodicy," 83-87; problem of, 1, 5, 8, 9, 11-13, 15-18, 21f, 64, 66, 69f, 83f, 87, 89, 91, 96, 105, 111, 117f, 148, 164, 167, 177, 183, 192, 277, 283, 314, 316f, 319, 324, 327, 329, 333, 365, 375f, 384-387; soul-making theodicy, 3; way of conceiving God as a reality of the world, 299
- Theology: 3-8, 12, 14f, 18, 20-22, 29, 31, 40, 43-45, 48f, 52, 57f, 60, 63, 70f, 73, 90, 95, 99f, 102, 105, 112, 118, 121, 152f, 178f, 185f, 270, 277, 282, 290, 294, 297, 299, 311, 315, 318, 319, 345, 351, 355f, 361, 368f, 372, 375, 378, 383f, 401, 405, 412; apophatic, 99-117, 179, 270, 373, 383; as phenomenology of the invisible, 32, 375, 378-384; as speech of, about and to God, 7; as thinking of Revelation, 368; fundamental, 369; Husserl's philosophical, 40-45, 48, 52, 57; kataphatic, 99, 105, 383; Kierkegaard's, 99, 117, 178f, 270; negative, 294; onto-theology, 14, 22, 99, 185f, 277, 282, 297, 299, 319, 356, 372, 378; phenomenological, 57f, 63, 71; speculative, 43f; theologia naturalis, 1; 'theological turn' in French phenomenology, 14f, 139, 352f; without theodicy, 315

- Thanksgiving: 124, 239, 266, 311, 336f, 340f, 346
- Theophany: 300f, 319, 355, 357f
- Theosophy: 223, 270, 322
- Tikkun*: 214
- Time: and growing, 191, 268; as (discontinuous) duration, 33, 180, 210f, 214, 237f, 324, 329; as a moving-out-of-self, 320; as invisible condition of phenomenality, 330; as non-phenomenal pre-giveness, 330, 333; as possibility of change, 331; as relation to alterity, 288, 293; denial of, 226-229; deformed, 320; end of, 250, 266f, 316, 360; experienced, 180; form of, 330; fullness of, 92; gift of time: transcendental gift of time//ethical time of giving, 330, 334, 337; given, 19; Given Time, 329, 363; immemorial, 208, 258; infinity of, 303f; intersubjectivity of, 322; is no present-being or being-present, 330; lived time, lifetime, 39, 94, 147, 180, 205, 269, 301, 319, 323, 325, 337, 376, 386; metamorphosis of, 18; middle of, 208-210, 212; 's novelty and unpredictability, 324; of the Other, 302; objective, 35, 39, 180; passing of, 120, 233, 328, 348; revolutionized, 301; rule over, 228f; subjective, 35f; symbolized, 331; synchrony//diachrony (see synchrony); 'take time seriously,' 227; time-bound and coming from outside of time, 334; time-consciousness (see consciousness); time-point: punctual now, 33, 278; time touched by timeless eternity, 147; transcendence of time in time, 304
- Timeless: 28, 36, 75, 78, 120, 147, 203, 206, 208, 210f, 226-229, 268f, 304, 347f
- Timelessness: 28, 93, 227f, 268, 272, 294
- Torah: 202, 221, 233, 290-292, 349
- Trace: 48, 247, 290, 309f, 315, 324, 329
- Transcendence: ambiguity of, 15-17, 22-87, 140, 148; and immanence, 22-30, 69, 90, 124, 218f, 375; as being transcended, 24, 287, 302; cosmological, 26, 75; divine (see divine); divine transcendence in immanence, 45-57, 370f; epistemic, 23, 26, 74; ethical, 149, 326; God's transcendence in relation to transcendental subjectivity, 45-47; gradual, 23f; (mis) interpreted, 68-70; of evil, 299; of faith, 140-144, 233-236; of God: vis-à-vis, in or underlying the world? 26f; of hope, 140, 146-149, 238-240; of love, 144-146; of negativity, 140-149, 225-240, 298-304; of the other, 320; of time, 93, 304; of thought, 25f; relative, 76, 108, 216; temporal movements of, 89, 236, 266, 271; vs. immanence//in immanence, 45-57, 370f
- Transcendent: 14-17, 21, 23-25, 27f, 30, 33f, 38, 44-47, 50, 52, 56-58, 62, 71f, 75, 81, 89, 94, 108, 116, 122-125, 130, 134, 137, 154, 179, 197, 205, 215-218, 264, 269, 277, 281, 287, 294, 298, 316, 321, 325, 361, 371, 379; absolute, 15, 23f, 26, 58, 75f, 108, 125, 216, 297; ground of being and thinking, 27-30, 282
- Totalitarian: 78
- Totality: 14, 23, 42, 44, 61, 78, 98, 107, 108, 132, 183, 185, 198, 248, 250f, 269, 285, 293, 303f, 320
- Transfiguration, Forklarelse: 96f, 120, 231-233, 275
- Transitoriness, transitory: 93, 319, 333
- Transitory: 147, 155, 201, 302, 332
- Trinity, Trinitarian: 206, 220, 333
- Trust: 4, 13, 54, 59, 114, 119, 130, 140, 175, 178, 213f, 233f, 236, 238f, 255f, 263, 266, 271, 273, 275, 291, 300, 305, 325, 335f, 342, 365, 375f, 387; as power that transforms negativity, 300; fiducia, 234, 387; for tomorrow we need all our, 263; hopeful, loving, 238f, 256, 266, 300, 376; in God: trusting faith, 140, 178, 215, 240-242, 266, 335f, 387; vs. mistrust, 113, 256, 271, 273, 387
- Truth: 32, 52, 59, 72, 76, 79, 85, 91, 101, 104, 131, 157, 163, 165f, 168, 176, 189f, 201, 215, 218, 251, 254, 255, 281, 332, 336, 345, 347f, 350; 'absolute' truth claims, 348; as Ent-bergung, Unverborghenheit, Erschlossenheit, 138, 281; for someone, 348; propositional, 350; truthful, 85, 148, 165f; truth criteria for feelings, 157, 163; Wahrheit as Bewahrung, 255, 348
- Tsimtsum*: 213
- Unheil*: 4, 254

- Virtue: 32, 77, 79, 83, 86, 147f, 151-156, 165-167, 178, 225, 244f, 250, 265f, 312, 347; as habit or disposition, 152, 154, 167; cardinal virtues, 152; of brevitas, 347; supernatural, infused, 152, 156; theological virtues, 152, 154; virtue//vices, 153f; virtuous(ness) 6, 84, 155, 166, 178
- Witness, witnessing: 68, 82, 102, 119, 120, 143f, 182, 214, 255f, 266, 289-291, 302, 314f, 323, 335, 352, 354, 381
- Word(s): 7, 9, 11f, 24, 29, 63, 66, 70f, 81, 95, 103, 108, 158, 161, 163, 172, 194f, 197-203, 206, 217, 220, 233, 236, 238, 241f, 248f, 254, 262, 264, 266, 274, 289f, 292f, 305, 321, 323, 330f, 341, 378, 383f; and deeds, 158, 224, 347, 373; of God//of man, 203, 217; revealed, 203
- World: as cosmos, 184; as infinite horizon of possible experience, 61; as limit or terminus ad quem of our thinking, 27, 52; being-in-the-world, 29, 31, 62, 70, 280, 294; becoming of the world, 264; God's relation to, 1, 7, 42; harmony of the world, 2; imperfection of, 1; Leibniz' best of worlds//rotten world, 142; make the world into a better place, 262; mundus sensibilis//mundus intelligibilis, 84; not yet finished/unfinished, 191, 210, 234, 237, 270, 336f; not yet redeemed/unredeemed, 189-191, 194f, 212, 218, 273, 334; of nature, 259; outer, 37, 111, 165, 257, 335; overview of God and world, 386; phenomenal, 30, 59, 84, 115, 119, 130, 135, 179, 190, 197, 200, 225, 264; physical, 176, 223; 'picture' of the, 372; rational order of the, 259; redeemed, 189f, 194f, 273, 334; securus adversus deos, 185; spirit of the world: Weltgeist, 76; spiritual world, world of the spirit, 259; this world, 2f, 7, 11, 26, 61, 69, 76, 84f, 119, 175, 200, 235, 237, 242, 259f, 304, 310, 316, 375; Überwelt: supra-world or hyper-cosmos, 184, 208, 210, 227, 251, 266; Vorwelt: proto-cosmos, 184, 208, 218; Weltalter fragment, 206, 211, 322; Weltenthobenheit, 217; visible, 70, 102f, 105, 111, 120, 130, 145, 200; worldly phenomena/phenomenality, 8, 43, 61, 131, 334, 365f, 378; world-pole//ego-pole, 52//377; world-to-come, 302, 303
- Zohar: 214